

Federation Head Asks Passage of Wage-Hour Bill

Green Hopes House Will Make Changes Sought By Labor

OPPOSED TO DELAY
Some Labor Leaders Trying to Sidetrack Measure

Washington—(AP)—The senate reversed itself today and rejected a proposal by Senator Reynolds (D-N.C.) to exempt firms employing ten persons or less from the provisions of the administration's wage-hour legislation.

Washington—(AP)—The senate voted today to eliminate all employers of 10 or less persons from the administration's wage hour bill.

The amendment, eliminating small firms, was adopted without a record vote. It was offered by Senator Reynolds (D-N.C.).

Senator Harrison (D-Miss.), who lost the Democratic leadership of the senate last week by a single vote, had just concluded the most severe attack yet made on the bill when the amendment came to a vote.

The Mississippian, who rarely makes speeches in the senate except on legislation he is handling, said the measure was "more dangerous" to business than any that had been presented to the senate.

Acknowledging, as he took his seat that he had "said more perhaps than I should," Harrison announced he was "against the bill" and would vote to send it back to committee.

Harrison declared one reason he opposed it was that Secretary of Labor Perkins would have a major hand in administering it.

Washington—(AP)—William Green clarified the American Federation of Labor's attitude toward the administration's wage-hour bill today in a letter urging the senate to pass the measure instead of sending it back to committee.

Some federation officials had sought to sidetrack the measure. John P. Frey, president of the federation's metal trades department, said he had asked a number of senators to delay its consideration until next year.

Green's letter was received by the senate shortly after a non-partisan house bloc organized to hold congress in session until the wage-hour legislation is passed.

The Green letter, addressed to Chairman Black (D-Ala.) of the senate labor committee was expected by the measure's proponents to counteract the sidetracking movement started after Frey had fought to forestall immediate action.

Avails Letter

Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) disclosed Green had written the letter to Black, but he said the Alabama author of the wage-hour law had not yet received it.

McCarran said the letter, read to him over the telephone, asserted that while the bill was not entirely satisfactory to labor, the federation wanted it passed rather than re-committed, in the hope that changes could be made in the house.

Senator Reynolds (D-N.C.) opened the day's skirmishing by submitting an amendment to except from the regulatory provisions of the bill all employers of ten persons or less.

The non-partisan organization meeting was attended by more than 40 house members, including Democrats, Progressives and Farmer-Laborites.

Healer Is Chairman

Representative Healey, (D-Mass.) was elected permanent chairman. He was directed to appoint a steering committee of 25 to "defeat any and all attempts" to adjourn congress until the wage-hour legislation is enacted.

The wage-hour bill also came up at President Roosevelt's press conference.

Asked if William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had acquainted him with his views on the measure the president said he believed Green was not satisfied with it as it stands, but hopes it will be improved in the house and ultimately will pass.

Green was a White House caller today, but the president said the Fear 23 Dead In Shelling Of Freighter

Captain and 10 Members Of Crew Reach Shore In Small Boat

NO REFUGEES ABOARD

Skipper Reports Two Submarines Took Part In Attack

Nimes, France—(AP)—Fear was expressed today that 23 officers and men had perished as a result of the shelling of the Spanish freighter Andutz-Mendi by an unidentified submarine.

The captain, Obdulio Castel, and 10 of his crew reached shore in a small boat early today but there was no trace of any others of the 34 that constituted the ship's personnel. The Andutz-Mendi was still afloat from the gunfire.

The skipper said the ship carried no refugees. Previously it had been reported she was transporting a load of refugees from Valencia to Marseille, France.

Castel reported two submarines took part in the attack late yesterday in French waters of Le Grau du Roi, France.

"Therefore, we were not alarmed," he said, "as we were not carrying a submarine on each side. One only 30 yards distant machine gunned us as well as fired a heavy gun."

Radio Disabled

"The first shots disabled our radio. Machine gun bullets swept the deck. We took refuge in the engine room. The firing kept up about 20 minutes. Then the submarines disappeared."

The ship was still blazing and drifting at noon today.

Castel said the crew battled the flames for hours before he and 10 men lowered a small boat with greatest difficulty and abandoned ship.

The 11 landed at Saintes Maries, a coastal village, and came to Nimes where they made a report on the attack to the Spanish vice consul and French police.

2 FRENCHMEN DOOMED

Two Frenchmen, charged with plotting to spread typhoid and sleeping sickness germs behind insurgent lines, were reported quickly sentenced to death today by a military court at Pamplona.

General Francisco Franco, insurgent leader, was believed to have ordered sentence stayed until an international commission could see if there was evidence of an international scheme.

A communiqué said he had notified the League of Nations and world capitals of the alleged plot, but French officials reported no formal notice had reached them.

Italy Renews Her Pledge to London

Promises to Respect Territorial Integrity of Spain

London—(AP)—Viscount Cranborne, undersecretary for foreign affairs, disclosed to the house of commons today Italy had renewed her pledge to Great Britain to respect the territorial integrity of civil war-torn Spain.

Lord Cranborne's statement was made during a final debate before the summer recess on the joint question of Anglo-Italian relations in the Mediterranean and the opposite plans sponsored by the two countries to achieve non-intervention in the Spanish conflict.

In answer to a question from Lieutenant Commander Reginald Letcher, retired naval officer and laborite M. P. Lord Cranborne declared Italy had renewed her assurances to Britain "within the last few days."

Even as the debate waxed in commons, members of the non-intervention subcommittee gathered for consideration of the latest British plan to keep hands off Spain—a plan observers feared might be wrecked on persistent Russian refusal to grant belligerent rights to Spanish insurgents under any circumstances.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden bluntly rejected a demand by Clement R. Attlee, leader of the labor opposition, that parliament be reconvened if the question arose of granting the Spanish insurgents belligerent rights. He added that the government foresaw "no revolutionary change in policy."

'Hardened Criminals' Help Fatherless Family

Waupun—(AP)—Prison officials were convinced today soft hearts beat under the drab jackets of the penitentiary inmates.

Six children were left fatherless when John J. Andrews, a guard at the prison for the last 10 years, died last week.

The "hardened criminals" began taking up a collection to aid the children, prison officials limiting donations to 50 cents a person.

Several inmates objected to the minimum. One said he had $1,200 and wanted to give $25. He said he had no dependents and had four life terms to serve anyway. Others, who asked permission to give $5 or $10, were refused. So far $100 has been collected.

Guards at the prison have raised $50 to add to the fund.

MAY BE JUSTICE

Washington—(AP)—Frank Murphy's weekend White House visit focused speculation today on the red-haired, youthful Michigan governor as a possible choice for the supreme court vacancy.

Senator Brown (D-Mich.), a political ally of Murphy, said it was "entirely possible" the vacancy would be discussed. He explained, however, he did not know the purpose of the visit.

White House officials also were silent on that point. They denied, in response to reporters' questions, that President Roosevelt and his guest would undertake "to rewrite the Wagner labor relations act."

Says Organizers Were Beaten on Public Property

U. A. W. Attorney Denies Victims Were Trespassers at Plant

Detroit—(AP)—A United Automobile Workers' attorney produced at a national labor relations board hearing today additional evidence intended to show that beatings of union organizers at the Ford Motor company's Dearborn plant May 26 occurred on public property. The company has contended correspondence between the Ford company and the former village of Springwells, now a part of Dearborn, relating to an underpass on Eagle avenue, where some of the fighting between U.A.W. members and Ford employees occurred.

Trial Examiner John T. Lindsay of the NLRB pressed for conclusion tonight of the hearing on the board's complaint charging the Ford company with unfair labor practices.

Then the hearing ends, Lindsay announced, the company, the U.A.W. and the NLRB attorneys will have ten days in which to file briefs with the board.

Exchanges between E. G. Liebold of the Ford company and Springwells officials in 1923 were brought to the hearing room by Joseph Cardinal, deputy city clerk of Dearborn. One dated Feb. 27 referred to the village's taking over the underpass "for maintenance when same has been dedicated as a public highway."

Ford attorneys rested their defense yesterday with the testimony of plant foremen that discharge of 38 workers was "for cause," not because of union membership.

Industrial Relations Act Vetted by Murphy

Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—Governor Frank Murphy vetoed last night the Michigan industrial relations act after the legislature failed to act on his suggestion that the anti-picketing provisions and others be amended.

The whole question will be submitted to a special session of the legislature to be convened this afternoon.

The governor said in his veto message:

"If we are to achieve industrial peace through legislation of this nature we must have the good will and the cooperation of the interests that will be primarily affected by it."

Labor Board Members At Hearing in Beloit

Madison—(AP)—Voyle Wabnitz and Prof. W. G. Rice, chairman and counsel of the state labor relations board, were in Beloit today to conduct hearings on charges of CIO officials that the Freeman Shoe corporation had engaged in unfair labor practices. The hearing was set for 9 o'clock a. m.

Al Smith Takes Tammany Leadership In Attempt to Elect Copeland Mayor

New York—(AP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith the "happy warrior" of other years, returned to the political stage today faced with the unprecedented task of guiding a Tammany-endorsed mayoral candidate through a Republican primary.

Dropping his role as behind-the-scenes advisor, Smith stepped into the breach after the funeral yesterday of Tammany Leader James J. Dooling and attempted to rally the hall's quarrelling factions firmly behind the candidacy of United States Senator Royal S. Copeland for the mayoralty of New York city.

Meanwhile, announcement by both Copeland and Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia that they would seek

Flames Start in Lower Holds and Spread Rapidly Aboard Vessel

2 MISSING, 6 HURT

Resort Residents Rush to Rescue; Fishing Craft Help

Baltimore—(AP)—Captain Charles O. Brooks, master of the charred and smoking hulk which was the bay liner city of Baltimore, suggested today that sabotage might account for the "amazing" spread of the fire which killed two, injured six, and left two missing.

Firemen began today to pump out the steel hull of the beached liner in a search for bodies and clues to the origin of the fire. Navy planes ordered out to search nearby waters for bodies of the missing two of the 93 aboard were recalled.

Four crew members and two passengers, of the 38 known survivors, received hospital treatment. None of them were seriously hurt.

Three navy seaplanes began an aerial search of the bay shortly after dawn seeking bodies of possible victims.

The liner, sliding down the bay to Norfolk, burst into a floating furnace 14 miles below Baltimore.

Fire in Lower Holds

Flames, passengers said, roared from the lower holds and within three minutes after the first alarm had wrapped two-thirds of the boat in fire.

The passengers, most of whom were at dinner, hurried to the rails, many still clutching their napkins. Others tumbled from state-rooms. The crew surged up from the hold.

Two miles away, resort residents—who had been sitting on their lawns a moment before talking about the mildness of the night—rushed down to the water's edge as flames burst from the beach.

Boats put out from the beaches. Fishing craft near the liner hurried towards her.

With the fire licking up the deck, the passengers, joined by the crew, huddled towards the bow.

Pleaded for Help

Screams could be heard ashore above the roar of the flames. Passengers begged for help as those in the smaller boats were driven back by the onrushing heat.

An unidentified man picked up a rope, tied one end to the railing and pitched the other overboard. The flames swirled closer. Some grasped the rope and slid down to the water.

The ship, witnesses said, since the first alarm, had turned and headed for the shallow water of the west shore. She was beached in 13 Bodkin point.

Luther Boozie, Baltimore, fishing nearby, said he and five companions were the first boat on the scene.

Jump From Vessel

A few minutes later and it was jump or face the flames. Many nervously pulled themselves to the top rail and let go. Others got over the railing and clung there until the heat forced them to drop.

As the passengers jumped, the small boats lied about, picking them up.

The William D. Sanner, pilot boat, steamed 61.

Max Steen, a Baltimore fruit broker, said that when he jumped into the water a Negro, swimming without a life preserver, tore him from him and swam away.

L. S. Harvard, of Newport News, Va., said he and Captain Charles O. Brooks, the ship's veteran master, were the last to leave the ship.

"I was eating dinner," he said, "when I heard the call of fire. I went outside and stayed with the captain until the deck was empty. "He and I then jumped into the water."

Silent on Progress in Hunt for Gem Thieves

Seal Harbor, Maine—(AP)—Progress in the search for persons who took jewels valued at $47,900 from the summer home here of Captain and Mrs. J. O'Brien, Grosvenor Point, Mich., was the secret of investigators today.

State police said communications with Philadelphia authorities "aparently" cleared a man from that city of any connection with the theft. Meanwhile state police joined with insurance investigators and Hancock county officials in a hunt for clues.

American Actress and British Earl are Wed

London—(AP)—Love almost at first sight brought a wedding today for Virginia Cherrill, America movie actress and the ninth earl of Jersey.

The new countess, 29-year-old former wife of Cary Grant and the blind flower girl of Charlie Chaplin's "City Lights" became Britain's sixteenth stage and screen countess.

She and dark, handsome Francis Child Villiers, Earl of Jersey, were married at the Chelsea register office.

Marriage ended the acting career of the Countess, 11 countesses.

"It's a happy married life for me now," she exclaimed.

The earl of Jersey—who is also Viscount Brandon, Viscount Villiers and Baron Hoo—said they would live in his London Farm street town house because "we cannot afford to live in the family home at Osterley park."

They met a year ago.

Committee Maps Plans to Close Tax Loopholes

Doughton Says Further Legislation Will be Needed Next Winter

Washington—(AP)—A special senate-house committee agreed today on recommendations it will make to congress for preventing the seepage of revenue through tax law loopholes. Details were kept secret.

Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) said the suggestions probably would not cover all tax evasion devices which the treasury described in open hearings but that they would cover "the most important ones."

"We'll have to have further legislation on this matter next winter," he said.

The committee will meet again Tuesday. By then, the chairman said, it is hoped to have the formal report ready for presentation to senate and house. A bill to seal tax loopholes also may be ready by that time, he added.

Members of the committee said the new legislation would apply to 1937 income in the hope of picking up $150,000,000 to $250,000,000 additional revenue.

The measure will be relatively simple, members said, to take care of such tax reduction devices as incorporated yachts, country estates and hobbies by tightening up on allowable deductions.

They intend also to cover foreign and domestic personal holding companies, foreign insurance firms and non-resident aliens in their recommendations.

Asks Opposition To Diversion Bill

Loomis Wants Wisconsin Congressmen to Fight McAndrews Bill

Madison—(AP)—Attorney General Oland S. Loomis sent letters to Wisconsin senators and congressmen in Washington today urging them to oppose passage of the McAndrews bill relating to diversion of water from Lake Michigan.

The bill, sponsored by Congressman McAndrews of Illinois, would nullify in a substantial degree the supreme court decision entered in favor of Wisconsin and other lake states in the Chicago diversion case several years ago.

The supreme court decision determined the equities in the controversy and now, through propaganda efforts are being made to undo all that was accomplished by the lake state in protecting their interests," Loomis wrote.

The attorney general said that "considerable time, effort and money was spent by the people of Wisconsin and other lake states in the legal battle" over the diversion at Chicago.

The McAndrews bill would permit the state of Illinois to withdraw upward of 5,000 cubic feet of water a second, in addition to all domestic damppage, from Lake Michigan into the Chicago river.

Fortune Teller's Advice Is Blamed for Slaying

Chicago—(AP)—A fortune teller's counsel was held responsible by police for the hatchet slaying of Mrs. Clara Frangella, 58, in her home early today. Police said the woman was fatally wounded by her husband, Dominick, 64.

Frangella's son, Dominick, Jr., 34, told police his father's mind apparently had become unbalanced by the counsel of a fortune teller who had told him his wife had been "running around with other men."

Roosevelt Silent On Possible End Of Congress Term

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt may spend two or three days at his Hyde Park, N. Y., home next week, depending on the congressional situation.

At his press conference today the president would not comment on a possible adjournment date.

The president, responding to questions said his weekend conference with Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan would be a social one. Governor Murphy is coming here at the invitation of the chief executive.

Asked if the labor situation would be discussed, the president said he doubted it.

Mr. Roosevelt said he might board the yacht Potomac tonight for a short cruise.

He added he would remain within three hours distance of the capital and, in any event, return to the White House by Sunday noon.

Touching briefly on other subjects, the president told newsmen he believed he had received his requested ruling from the department of justice on whether he must fill the supreme court vacancy before congress adjourns.

Until he had read it, however, he said he would not disclose its contents.

State American Legion Conclave Opens Next Week

Drum and Bugle Corps of Local Post Entered In Parade

More than 200 Appleton legionnaires and residents are expected to attend the nineteenth annual state convention of the American Legion at Milwaukee from Aug. 7 to 10. The Sons of the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps is entered in the parade to be held on Monday, Aug. 8.

When the American Legion last met in Milwaukee, it was the occasion of the first caucus that formed the state department. John C. Davis, Milwaukee, was named the first department commander in 1919.

The official program for the convention has been completed. The conclave will open with registration on Friday morning, Aug. 6. Business sessions will continue through the day and Saturday. The 40th and 50th Commanders' club banquets will be held on Saturday evening.

Formal Opening
The joint formal opening of the American Legion and American Legion auxiliary convention will take place at 8:30 Sunday morning. The department memorial service will be conducted at 11 o'clock. Convention sessions also will be held in the afternoon.

The annual department banquet will be held Sunday evening after the plaque dedication services late in the afternoon to commemorate the birth place of the state department. Governor LaFollette and Bennett Clark, United States Senator of Missouri, will be the banquet speakers.

Two parades, the department parade and parade of champions will be held on Monday. The department parade will be staged in the afternoon and the parade of champions in the evening. The convention golf tournament will be held in the morning.

Election of officers will feature the final day activities on Tuesday.

Start Erection of New Parking Signs

Enforcement of New Ordinance to Begin on Monday

Erection of the new 60-minute parking signs on College avenue was started yesterday by street department workmen and enforcement of the new parking ordinance will be started Monday, Mayor Goodland said today. The present restriction is 30 minutes.

The 60-minute parking ordinance for the avenue was adopted recently by the common council after it had turned down a proposed plan to try parking meters. Under the ordinance regulations for the immediate limit of two hours will be changed to restrict parking to 60 minutes.

The color scheme of the new 60-minute parking signs is the same as that of the new 20-mile speed limit signs. The background is white with black figures.

Adoption of the new parking ordinance was made in an attempt to better regulate traffic on the avenue and to help solve the parking congestion problem.

Lockjaw Is Caused by Germs, Medics Point Out

Madison—Lockjaw is not caused by rusty nails but by germs, says the State Medical Society in today's health bulletin.

"Many people believe that the rusty nail itself is the cause of lockjaw in the event of an accident. Contrary to this popular belief, tetanus or lockjaw is caused by spores of the tetanus germ which are found most frequently in soil or street dirt that is contaminated with horse or animal manure. Infectious material on the sole of the shoe and germs may be carried into the tissues even though the nail or other sharp object may be bright, shiny, and almost new.

"Accidents of this kind could be avoided if rusty nails or other sharp objects, like pieces of glass, tin cans, or split boards with rough edges, would be removed from the middle of the backyard or some other hazardous spot to the city dump. Many of these rusty nail accidents occur when families are moving, or when the back yard is being cleaned. Children often play barefoot around debris of this kind. If they are to romp barefoot, all visible debris such as boards with nails sticking out of them should be removed. The burial or removal of such objects to dumps will prevent thousands of accidents.

Former Appletonian Is Manufacturer's Official

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison — George F. Kull left the city desk of the old Appleton Daily Post 20 years ago this summer but he still looks back with pleasure to his experiences in Fox River Valley journalism.

Mr. Kull, for almost two decades secretary of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association, which includes in its membership 650 of the industrial leaders of the state, and himself one of the leading lights in state economic affairs, recalled his work as an editor and reporter in Appleton and Outagamie county before the World War.

A native of Fort Howard, now Green Bay, where he was born in 1877, Mr. Kull after graduation from Lawrence college in 1899 went to work for the old Appleton Daily Crescent, which has since been merged with the old Post to form today's Post-Crescent. After a few months he left Appleton for more attractive journalistic fields in Milwaukee and Chicago. In a few years he returned to Appleton to become city editor of the Daily Post, then functioning under the direction of the well-known Ralph Pomeroy.

Into Politics
In that position he plunged into local politics and community problems. He reminisced with pleasure on the fight over Outagamie county's first bond issue for concrete highways. That first issue was for $175,000, and gave the county the distinction of being the first in the whole nation to bond itself for the construction of modern highways.

In another instance he began a personal investigation of Appleton's city government and led the movement which resulted in a change from the aldermanic to the city commission form.

Kull during those years also hired men for his editorial staff who have since become prominent in Appleton and Wisconsin affairs. One of the young men he put on his staff was Thomas Byron Beveridge, now one of the state's most prominent military men, one of Wisconsin's heroes in the World War, and recently retired from the Wisconsin National Guard with the longest continuous service in that organization.

All in Politics
Newspapers and their editors in those days were deeply interested in politics, and were the local spokesmen for their respective parties. In Kull's day the Post was a Republican paper, as the Crescent was Democratic. Besides being city editor Kull served for many years as secretary of the Republican county committee. That job brings back many amusing memories of local political maneuvers, but those he suggested, had better not be published.

Today Kull is busily engaged in running the affairs of the manufacturers' association, whose business is steadily growing in volume with a general business revival. The industrial future is rosy, he explained. Wisconsin's industry during the past few months especially has made rapid strides forward, and the Fox River Valley paper industry is now enjoying what may be termed a mild "boom."

Besides his work in the Wisconsin manufacturers' group, Mr. Kull is serving as chairman of the national industrial council, made up of 500 manufacturers' organizations representing every industrial area in America.

135 Associations in Dairy Testing Work

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Dairy herd improvement work is now being carried on throughout Wisconsin by 135 associations representing 2,947 herds and $6,926 cows, the agricultural extension service of the University of Wisconsin reported today. During the month of June the service reported 120 fieldmen at work with herd improvement groups.

During the last six months new associations have been formed in 15 counties, including Calumet, Door, Oconto, Outagamie, Sheboygan and Winnebago.

Tin Can Tourists Like Sarasota for Winter Conference

Next Summer Meeting Probably Will be Held in Some Michigan Town

By CARL W. MASON
Keshena, Wis.—The next summer convention of the Tin Can Tourists of the World will be held in Michigan, although the actual convention city has not yet been definitely chosen, according to C. C. McKnight of Coldwater, Mich., royal knight of the organization. Six different Michigan cities have invited the convention but, under agreement, no names are given out till a decision is made.

The next winter convention of the Tin Canners—the 19th annual—undoubtedly will be held in Sarasota, Fla., convention city for the last five years, according to Royal Knight McKnight, and neither city will get the big gathering, Sarasota through its mayor, E. A. Smith, has invited the Tin Canners back to the Ringling circus city and the 45 acres of land utilized last winter will be augmented the coming winter by a 70-acre addition, affording ample room for all comers. This land is now being developed into a camp which will be open to tourists about Jan. 1. A large hotel with a capacity of 4,000 to 5,000 persons will be erected and used for entertainments. The present dance hall will be retained for dances but it will not now be necessary to mobilize 2,000 campers daily to move 4,000 chairs, clean up and change arrangements.

Tampa fell down on its WPA appropriations for the proposed great tourist camp and there only a small camp entirely inadequate for Tin Canners needs is being completed in the cigar city. The last convention voted to go to Mexico City for the next winter meeting but Royal Chief McKnight states that the vote was not a true one, many voting for Mexico City who had no intention of going to the southern capital.

The most loyal Tin Canners, he says, have always felt that Sarasota—with its lovely Florida camp really capable of handling the great gatherings—is the logical place for the conventions. The officers have felt the meeting would be held there in 1938, so much so they have never removed the Tin Canners' bank account from that city.

Mr. McKnight leaves Aug. 20 to go to Sarasota to complete negotiations for the next convention.

At least 150 camps are registered on the Keshena camp grounds for this summer's meeting and more are rolling in daily.

The Keshena camp is in excellent condition and the tourists are enjoying the outing. Initiations are held almost every afternoon and each evening an excellent program is given in front of the grandstand.

A dance, with old time square dances, waltzes, schottisches, and circle two steps featured completes each day's entertainment. Many visitors admitted to the grounds for a small sum, witness the outdoor programs from a point near the grandstand.

Appleton Yachts Will Go to Water Carnival
Five yachts will leave the Appleton boat club today or early Saturday, carrying about 50 persons to the annual water carnival at Fremont Saturday and Sunday.

Hearing on Bridge to Be Held at Shiocton
Any arguments for or against the proposed construction of a bridge across the Wolf river at Shiocton will be heard by the state highway commission at a hearing at the Odd Fellows hall, Shiocton at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The location proposed is from the intersection of an island street with River street, thence southerly and westerly along a continuation of River street east of the intersection and across the river to an intersection with Highways 5' and 76.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

In the Hands of a Receiver

In the past few days there have been two straws in the wind which presage even more serious trouble for the New Deal than it has as yet encountered. Last week Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, attacked the National Labor Relations Board as a kangaroo court biased in favor of the C. I. O., and said it would be better to abolish the board than to let it make an "economic hash of our national welfare." And on Monday Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, denounced the board as "conspiring with communistic influences to destroy Southern industries."

What makes these attacks so significant is, of course, the fact that Senator Nye and Representative Rankin belong to the left wing of the bloc. Both of them are the avowed and persistent enemies of Eastern bankers and of the public utilities; both are in the tradition of American sense advanced progressivism; that is, wealth, big business and the conservative direction of money and credit. Yet here they are, sharply challenging the New Deal on one of its crucial policies: on its attempt to use the Federal power to create a labor movement based on industrial unionism in alliance with the New Deal Democracy.

Any objective student of American politics could have told Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Wagner, "The Nation" and "The New Republic," Mr. Heywood Brown and other amiable philanderers with the notion of farmer-labor party, that just this time was bound to happen. The amateur progressives who have been riding high, wide and handsome for the last two or three years have been determined to believe that the logical objective to their efforts was a political party combining class-conscious industrial workers, it is sheer delusion. But being possessed by this delusion they have been unable to think straight, and have proceeded to make one gigantic blunder after another.

The plain fact of the matter is that when farmers go into politics they naturally seek to raise the cost of living and to make raw materials more expensive; and when labor goes into politics it naturally does things which make more costly the things which the farmer buys. The idea that the same government can at one and the same time raise farm prices artificially and raise wages artificially would never be entertained by any competent student of politics.

For it is a truth, demonstrated again and again in our own experience, verifiable from the experience of every other country, including Russia, easily confirmed by any one who has lived both in industrial cities and in rural areas, that the divergence of interest and of moral outlook is very great between the city and the country. To think of founding a political party on their common interests is naive; for the real problem is to adjust and conciliate their conflicting interests.

But because the dominant New Dealers are under the hallucination that they are creating a farmer-labor party, they have renounced the effort, difficult enough in all conscience, to play the part of the firm, friendly but impartial judge of conflicting interests. It has been a tragic blunder. It may discredit not only them but the cause of progressivism that they lead so earnestly but so unwisely. These attacks are certain signs that in becoming the partisans of the C. I. O. the New Dealers have not only not advanced a farmer-labor party, but have, in fact, driven a wedge between the agrarian progressives and the industrial radicals.

Nor have they proved to be good friends of organized labor and of the industrial workers. On the contrary, they have led them blithely and irresponsibly down a path to what may well prove to be a major catastrophe for American labor unionism. Whether they meant to, they have exacerbated the conflict between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. Then, because they encouraged the C. I. O. without having the honest courage to restrain it in time, because they

Artillery Band Leaves Saturday For Stay at Camp

Expect Unit to March in American Legion Parade in Milwaukee

Members of the 120th Field Artillery band, a unit of the Wisconsin National Guard, will leave at 7:45 Saturday morning for their annual 2-weeks' stay at Camp Williams.

The band has been assigned five 11-ton trucks and one station wagon which will be used to transport both men and equipment to and from camp. The unit is under the command of Warrant Officer Orville J. Thompson. Non-commissioned officers are: Herbert E. Lutz, technical sergeant, Clinton S. Reed, staff sergeant, John Hancock, George Steenis, John Brouckek and George W. Perry, sergeants; George Acker and John Vandenberg, corporals; Edmund J. Marty, Erwin Haerel, A. L. DeMenter, Vern Halenbeck, Jack Feavel, Tony Vandenberg, Joseph Wettengel, Eugene Kottler, Harold Joss, Eugene Winn, Glen Given, Harold Acker, John Moyle, John Talbot, Jack P. Gol, Owen Larsen, Thomas Martin, Raymond Kuebler, Carl Roehl and James Schilling, privates.

It is expected the band will go to Milwaukee from Camp Williams on Monday, Aug. 9, to attend the American Legion convention. About 12 civilian members of the band will drive from Appleton to Milwaukee to augment the band for that day.

Gains in Railway Express agency shipments are slightly ahead both nationally and locally for the first six months of 1937 as compared to the same period last year, according to W. N. Kimball, local agent.

K. N. Merritt, general sales manager of the agency, said today that figures now available show that the agency carried 11,579,683 shipments for the month of May, an increase of 636,282 or 5.81 per cent over the corresponding period in 1936.

Although June figures have not been tabulated, preliminary data indicate a satisfactory rise over June of 1936, thus making the forty-second consecutive month that an increase has been shown, Merritt said.

Building Permits
Three building permits were issued yesterday by the building inspection department. They were granted to August C. Koehler, 1908 S. Jefferson street, residence and garage, $5,000; Clarence Below, 1419 W. Franklin street, residence and garage, $5,000; Kimberly Real Estate company, 1701 N. Appleton street, residence and garage, $3,500.

Fine Driver for Going 45 on Richmond Street
A fine of $10 and costs was paid in municipal court this morning by Elmer Kieffer, 23 route 2, Kaukauna, following a plea of guilty to a charge of speeding. He was arrested by Appleton police and accused of driving 45 miles an hour on N. Richmond street.

Name Five Judges to Select Dairy Queen
Five judges who will select Outagamie county's Dairy Queen from among 4-H club entries at the Seymour fair Aug. 7 were announced today at the office of R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent. The winner of the Outagamie county dairy crown will enter state competition at the state fair in Madison.

The judges named here are Miss Marie Klein, county nurse; Rexford S. Mitchell, professor of speech at Lawrence college; Mrs. Raymond Miller, Seymour; A. G. Meating of the Appleton vocational school staff, and R. C. Swanson, county agent.

Eight Probate Cases on County Court Calendar
Hearings on eight cases in probate are scheduled for a special term of Outagamie county court, before Judge F. V. Heinemann, Aug. 10, according to Russell Earling, register in probate. The calendar lists hearings on the wills of Wilhelmina Spiegelberg, Mike Coffey and Martin Vandenberg; hearings on final account in the estates of William Maislein and Emma Kubitz; a hearing on administration in the estate of Meta Dettmann and hearings on claims in the estates of Ida Engle and Philip Frieders.

City and Chamber Oppose Proposed Highway 41 Route

Commission Urged to Retain Present Routing of Highway 41

The Wisconsin Highway commission this morning was told that the city of Appleton and the Appleton Chamber of Commerce are opposed to a proposal to re-route Superhighway 41 through the county asylum farm. At a hearing in the courthouse on the proposed re-routing a half dozen men representing the city and the chamber urged the commission to retain the present route which would bring Highway 41 into the northwestern corner of the city and then send it north to Highway 47 over an extension of Douglas street.

Most of the arguments offered to the commission stressed the claim that a promise had been made by the city of Appleton when the bond issue was proposed. It was argued that the county board would not have bonded the county for the highway if it had been known that this road would be routed through the asylum farm.

Other arguments offered were that a change in route would result in not making maximum use of present highway facilities, that it would take the highway so far from the city that it would not serve any purpose to Appleton, that retailers would have opposed the bond issue if they had known that there would be no direct connection with the road.

Among those who participated in the hearing were J. J. Plank, chairman of the chamber of commerce road committee; Mayor John Goodland, Alderman Gustave Keller, Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the chamber; John Diederich, J. R. Whitman and August Laabs.

The commission was represented by Commissioners William E. O'Brien and Thomas J. Pattison, State Highway Engineer E. L. Roettiger and Division Engineer D. F. Culbertson.

Following the hearing Mr. O'Brien said that a decision would be made promptly by the commission, but that the county board must approve any change in the route before it can be made. Prior to the hearing he stated that the commission had been informed by the United States Bureau of roads that it would not provide any money for construction of the highway on the route now adopted. He said that about $130,000 of federal money had been sent up for this part of the project, but none of it would be spent on the present route. It was indicated that this money would be made available if the asylum route was adopted.

DEATHS

GEORGE KOEHN
George Koehn, 38, Jefferson street, Kaukauna, died suddenly at 9:45 last night at Thilmany Pulp and Paper company mill at Kaukauna where he was employed. While at work he complained of a pain in his head and went to the locker room and sat down on a bench, death occurring a few minutes later. A cerebral hemorrhage was thought to be the cause of death.

Mr. Koehn was employed at the Thilmany mills for the last three months, and before that at the Outagamie mill which shut down. Born Aug. 23, 1898, he was a resident of Kaukauna for the last 15 years, having come here from Dorchester, Wis. Survivors are the widow, four daughters, Sylvia, 12; Georgiann, 8; Barbara, 6; and Beverly, 1; two sons, Wesley, 10; Ronald, 3; his mother, Mrs. Martha Koehn, Appleton; two brothers, Walter, Minneapolis; and Elmer, Dorchester; two sisters, Mrs. Della Martin, Chicago; and Mrs. Mildred Kramer, Oshkosh.

The body was taken to the Fargo funeral chapel in Kaukauna. Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but burial will take place in the Lutheran cemetery at Kaukauna.

HERMAN P. LOEWENHAGEN
Herman P. Loewenhagen, 69, 927 W. Fifth street, died at 1:30 Friday morning at his home after an illness of seven months. He was born June 26, 1868, in Milwaukee. At an early age he moved to Grand Chute with his parents and moved to Appleton 18 years ago. Mr. Loewenhagen was a member of the St. John's Evangelical Church.

Survivors include the widow, two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Werner and Mrs. Lawrence DeShaney; one son, Walter; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at his home at 1:30 Sunday afternoon and at St. John's Evangelical church at 2 o'clock.

Have Trouble Moving New Boiler to School

One of the several massive boilers which will heat the new high school arrived Thursday afternoon and promptly became a cause of worry. The huge boiler was successfully loaded on a trailer from the flat car, a truck then hitched to the load—and that was all. The trailer refused to budge. The tremendous weight of the boiler, one of the biggest types manufactured, sunk the trailer's wheels into the ground. After a struggle late in the afternoon, the boiler was left to stand until this morning, when new efforts succeeded in sending it on its way.

Civil Service Bill Okayed by Michigan Solons

Labor Relations Measure To be Considered This Afternoon

Lansing—(7)—An administration civil service bill was pushed through to enactment in the Michigan legislature today.

Other measures such as labor relations were deferred to the special session starting at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

An unemployment compensation act of Republican origin directly contrary to the wishes of the governor was adopted unanimously by both houses.

The civil service measure passed the senate by a vote of 17 to 13, it shot through the house by a vote of 68 to 20 with a number of Republicans joining Democrats in its support.

Governor Murphy said the measure is not perfect but is acceptable to him. He immediately set to work drafting a message outlining the issues he wishes disposed of in the special session.

The house adopted before adjournment a resolution "to investigate the state police, attorney general's office and any other state or county officers involved in the protection of gambling."

The vote was 74 to 10. Representative R. Eaton, Plymouth Republican, offered the resolution.

Name Committee
Speaker George Schroeder named Representatives John Hamilton and Chester B. Fitzgerald, Detroit Democrats, and Carl F. Delano, Kalamazoo Republican, to a 3-man investigating committee empowered to employ counsel and subpoena witnesses.

Eaton cited an order of the liquor control commission against slot machines in liquor establishments, recent raids in Macomb county, and remarks of Attorney General Raymond W. Starr in an Escanaba speech Thursday, as support for his statement that gambling is prevalent.

The resolution stated: "beyond any doubt the state police, attorney-general and governor must be just as familiar with the situation as the liquor commission."

Administration leaders said they accepted the unemployment compensation bill "because they could not get anything else."

Governor Murphy had urged a measure to embrace all employers and employees.

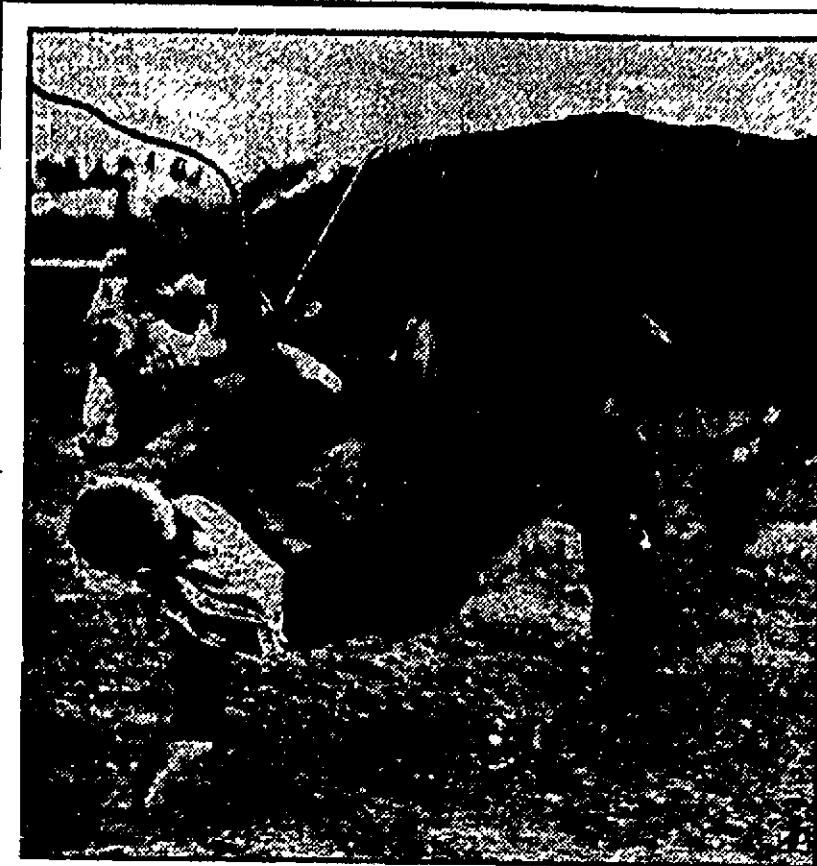

The bill exempts employers having eight or less employees. The present act exempts only those having a pay roll of less than $6,000 a year.

Unsuccessful Fight
Administration forces were unsuccessful in an effort to delete a provision forbidding membership in the unemployment commission to any person holding another state position. This section patently was aimed by the legislature at Dr. William Haber, a member of the University of Michigan staff and also a member of the commission. The only point the administration gained was advancing the date of insurance payments to July 1, 1938.

Passage of civil service was made possible by Senator Miles M. Callaghan, Republican, Reed City. Had he voted with his party the measure would have been blocked in the senate. Instead, he cast his ballot with 16 Democrats and a bare majority resulted.

The measure provides for a 3-member civil service commission and for qualifying examinations for present state employees. Department heads must be consulted relative to the questions to be asked in qualifying examination. To this

Trailer Carries Samples Of Wisconsin's Tall Corn, Dairy Products to Iowa

Madison—(7)—An automobile trailer loaded with big packages headed toward Des Moines today to defend Wisconsin's prestige in the friendly contest with Iowa over which state can raise the tallest— or depending on how you look at it—the best corn.

The emissaries of Governor Philip LaFollette, who will meet Governor Nelson C. Krasschel of Iowa in the state capital at Des Moines at noon tomorrow, claimed the tallest corn is not always the best.

They conceded that when Governor Krasschel steps into the ring with his corn stalk he may have the reach on Governor LaFollette, but the Wisconsin chief executive will pack a surprise wallop.

His secret was guarded carefully. All that his aids would say about it was an immense sample of a dairy product for which Wisconsin is well known—something that you eat with apple pie.

He also will have with him to overcome any advantage that Governor Krasschel may have in the height of corn stalks a big tub of something that you spread on your bread.

Governor LaFollette will not reach Des Moines in time to have lunch with Governor Krasschel, but said he expected to be in good condition when he did arrive.

The Wisconsin governor hinted that something may be said about the beautiful lakes in this state—and could Iowa match them?

Today he received the following jibe from Governor Krasschel: "Regret that you cannot lunch with me Saturday noon, but shall await your arrival at 12 o'clock. Suggest that if you are having difficulty packing a Wisconsin lake in liquid form that you have it frozen for shipment."

Among the hundreds of Wisconsin residents who have been trying to assist Governor LaFollette with corn specimens and suggestions was Mrs. Frank Norton of Madison, who submitted a picture of an inch-foot corn stalk.

The excitement of executive employees subsided when they learned the picture was taken in 1912.

Governor LaFollette will leave for Des Moines tonight at 8 p. m., accompanied by his secretary, Gordon Sinykin, and Thomas F. Davlin, chairman of the state highway commission.

Wilbur Carlson of the department of agriculture and markets, and Joseph Alexander, recreational publicity director, preceded them in the auto trailer.

The governor's party will drive half way tonight and complete the trip tomorrow morning. The executive will address a statewide meeting of Iowa Progressives at Des Moines.

Fair Weather to Remain Saturday
Little Change in Temperature Expected in Next 24 Hours

Appleton and vicinity will continue to enjoy the fair weather of the last few days for at least another 24 hours, the weatherman promised today. It will be generally fair throughout this section of the state but scattered showers are possible in the extreme west portion Saturday afternoon.

The temperature today traveled in a slightly lower range than yesterday. At noon today the mercury was at 76 degrees on the roof of the Post-Crescent building while a gentle east wind eased the heat of the sun. Maximum and minimum temperatures of 83 and 57 degrees were reported in the last 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. The minimum reading was taken at 4:30 this morning.

The Associated Press reported high and low temperatures yesterday at Appleton and Phoenix 102 and Wausau 42.

25 Appleton Jaces to Attend State Picnic
About 25 members of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce plan to attend the annual state picnic to be held at Hollywood Park, near Wolf Lake north of Fond du Lac next Sunday. It was announced by Harold A. Finger of the local committee. In addition to participating in the games and races, the local chamber will enter its softball team in the picnic contests.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Alumni Association, organized by Harold A. Finger, will meet and elect officers. This association is an honorary society composed of former and present officers.

R. C. Swanson, chairman of the local arrangements committee, also is state director from Appleton.

subject of the conference was something other than the wage-hour measure.

Frey disclosed he had asked a number of senators to delay consideration of the bill till next year. Green's letter, said the senate should approve "the best wage and hour bill possible" without sending the measure now before it back to committee.

"The wages and hours bill in the form in which it is now before the senate does not meet the expectations of labor," Green said in a statement issued in connection with the latter.

"However, we recognize the need for the enactment of wages and hours legislation."

For that reason, rather than recommit the senate bill for further committee consideration, it would seem advisable to pass the best wages and hours bill possible in the senate with the hope that it can be revised and amended in the house in such a way as to make it more nearly satisfactory and acceptable to labor."

Expects Passage
As senate debate on the measure was resumed, however, Major Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) and Senator Black (D-Ala.) co-author of the bill, expressed confidence it would pass, despite Democratic defections.

"We wish it understood," said a resolution of the anti-adjustment bloc adopted, "that we stand ready to stay in session until agricultural, and other necessary legislation is enacted."

The group met in closed session and Representative Boileau (P-Wis.) temporary chairman, told reporters it had a membership of more than 90.

Many Democratic senators who helped to shelve the president's program for reorganizing the supreme court were allied against the wage and hour measure. Most of those who stayed with the administration in the court fight were supporting it.

Both Sides Split
There were exceptions on both sides. Senator Harrison (D-Miss.), whom Barkley defeated for the party leadership, was publicly committed for the court bill, but said he would vote to send the wage and hour bill back to the labor committee.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), who led opposition forces to victory in the court fight, lined up with the administration on the wage and hour issue.

Republicans were almost solidly behind the opposition proposal to recommit the bill. If such a motion should carry, it would end for this year any consideration of the measure, one of the major items on the administration program.

Frey's activity against the bill was called to the attention of the senate yesterday by Wheeler, who demanded an expression of attitude from William Green, A. F. of L. president.

Labor Not United
Senator Black, co-author of the bill, said he had heard the federation was opposing it, but as an answer he displayed a telegram from federation unions in Birmingham, Ala., endorsing the measure. He said he had other telegrams from federation unions in all parts of the country approving the legislation.

He said he had just telephoned President Green, who declared he never had asked anyone to recommit the bill.

Questioned by reporters later, Green said he would make no further statement of his own attitude or that of the federation.

The bill would authorize a new federal board to fix minimum wages for industries in interstate commerce at not more than 40 cents an hour. It could establish a work week of not less than 40 hours.

A. F. of L. officials in the past have fought establishment of wage minimums on the ground that they might become maximums.

The senate approved one amendment to the bill yesterday without a record vote.

Proposed Exemptions
The change would exclude from work-week regulation persons employed in "ginning and baling of cotton, the canning or other packing or packaging of fish, sea foods, sponges, or picking, canning or processing of fruits or vegetables, or the processing of beets, cane and maple into sugar and syrup when the services of such persons are of a seasonal nature."

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) said the responsibility of fixing wage and hour standards should not be assigned to a board over which congress has no direct control.

"I cannot forget," he said, "that during the days of NRA the small business man didn't have a fair chance to present his cause. I have

Stunt Night Shows Scouts Have Dramatic Ability

Gardner Dam—Stunt night brought out the best in talent among the campers when they gathered at the big council fire on Tuesday night.

Harold Williams started the group singing familiar and new camp songs.

Leonard Buchman led the scouts from Hortonville into the firelight with a long rope. They connected two flashlight batteries to each end of the rope and the rope was held by as many campers as possible, supposedly to feel the electric shock. After a moment of silence Leonard asked Cliff Hammond if he had gotten anything, and he announced "that they had gotten as many suckers as the line would hold."

The campers holding the line were ready to mob Leonard and his pals, when a laugh went up among the more experienced campers, which all joined in.

Flays Accordion
Ray Eskofski got out his piano accordion and gave the group a concert as part of a stunt for his patrol, and received a big hand when he had finished. Gerald Egan came down in front to give his version of Rubinstein and his violin, but his husky voice got him down for the first time in years, and he is now scheduled to repeat his performance at the final camp fire on Saturday night.

Bud Thomas, Dick Marx, Don Rosenberg, and George Meier stepped up and gave a very fine quartet.

The rain started to fall at the close of the fire as the scouts were singing Taps and saying the scoutmaster's benediction.

At ten thirty on Wednesday morning the 14 mile hikers started off to complete their requirements for the first class test.

Scouts Cliff Ferron, Don Killoren, Cliff Hammond, Ernest Schroeder, Dean Collar, Chas. Olk, Carlton Trettin, Leonard Buchman, Timm McCarthy, Duane Trettin, Bud Trace, Chas. and Addie Hemmingsway, Leo Miller, and Gordon Gamble, started off under the leadership of Carlisle Runge. They picked up their lunches at the mess hall and headed for Highway 64.

Visit Fire Tower
When they got to the highway they went to the fire tower where Timm McCarthy and Carlisle Runge climbed to the top to talk to the lookout man, and to secure a fire permit allowing them to have a fire on their campsite that evening.

The fire was kindled up the old Bear Trail to a fire look-out. While on the Bear Trail they ate their lunch, looking over the surrounding woods during the lunch hour.

There were some doubts in the minds of the hikers that they had picked the right road and just about the time they were getting discouraged they sighted several landmarks and knew that they were on their destination, the Mead Fishing Camp, where they set up their camp for the night.

Others Arrive
Shortly after their arrival the overnight hikers who had taken the shorter route arrived and joined them. Don Clough, Eugene Kraft, Kenneth Wolff, Don Hoks, Clifford Geiger, Tom Loeschner, Ralph Suss, Gordon Meier, George Meier, Bill Lawson, Sam Atcherson, Jim Zwicker, Owen Braun, Don Smith and Otto Hoffman and Bill Spalding were the scouts in this second group.

The entire group wanted to go swimming and after checking on all campers for buddies the group was given the okay. One or two stuck their toes in the water and pulled them out, but some of the more adventurous dove in and hurriedly hit back for shore. It was like jumping into an ice box. The entire pond is fed by springs which rise close to the surface, and as a result none of the swimmers stayed in any longer than necessary.

The campers took out a couple of old boats and bailed and rowed for most of the afternoon.

Evening Games
After supper had been brought over from the main camp and served to the hikers, the group made up their beds and prepared for the evening games. They played "Bringing Home the Bacon" which was the same game that their fellow campers who had stayed at Gardner Dam were enjoying. After it was too dark to play any longer, they gathered around the campfire and sang songs, with several of the hikers giving impromptu selections.

It was a hungry bunch that woke the next morning at 5:30 and took a quick hike over to Gardner Dam arriving in time for breakfast.

Barkley's Position
Both Borah and Senator Bridges (R-N. H.) urged that congress itself fix wage and hour standards. Barkley replied that congress could not sit continuously to determine exemptions.

Senator Walsh (D-Mass.), supporting the measure, said it proposes to do for the lowest wage earners what collective bargaining does for groups.

He said, however, that congress may have to revise administration of the Wagner labor relations act. "It is possible," he said, "that some of the members of the national labor relations board have not performed their functions conscientiously and honorably. It is possible they have been dominated or controlled by one side or the other."

Over 5,000 Cared For at Vet's Home Since It Opened

Veterans, Widows and Other Relatives Find Haven at Waupaca

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Since Oct. 1, 1887, when the institution was opened, 2,835 veterans of the nation's wars, and 2,236 wives, widows, mothers and nurses of veterans have been cared for in the Grand Army Home for Veterans at Waupaca, according to a report from the adjutant general's office, administrator of the home.

The average cost for each member of the home during 1936 was $446, the report from Adjutant General Ralph M. Immel shows but contributions from the members and the federal government reduce the per capita cost to the state to $393.

The 1936 roll of the home showed 136 men residing there, and 272 women. Of the male residents, five were veterans of the Civil War, 89 of the Spanish American War, 2 of the Mexican border war, and 40 of the World War. The average age of the men was 60 years, and of the women 72 years. Oldest woman resident was 95, and oldest man, 96 years.

Repeated recommendations of the board of managers of the institution that a building program be begun will soon be carried out. The 1937 legislature authorized a building program, plans for which are now being drafted.

Telephone and Amplifier Systems Going in School

A private telephone system, and an amplifying system will facilitate administrative duties and mass instruction at the new senior high school, Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, said today.

"The private telephone system, to be installed at a cost of $3,700, is an administrative necessity and without it a messenger service would have to be maintained in the huge structure," Mr. Rohan declared. "The system will have no outside connection and each of the 69 classrooms will have a telephone," he continued.

As an attendance check, and a means of relaying information to all teachers simultaneously and in case of an emergency, the system will prove indispensable, Mr. Rohan predicted. The system will be manually operated with a switchboard located in the main office. Loudspeakers will be placed in all classrooms and there will be microphones in strategic places about the building. The principal will be able to address the entire student body without calling a general assembly, and educational programs can be heard in all classrooms. Mr. Rohan explained the amplifying system is primarily an "instructional device" while the telephone system is an "administrative necessity."

The New York Central during the same period paid 31 millions in taxes. This is $6.17 a share on its stock. Its stockholders received nothing.

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company paid 13 millions in taxes which amounts to $7 a share on its stock while its stockholders got nothing.

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana paid 95 millions in taxes. This is $8.23 a share on the same stock that its stockholders received but $2.40 a share.

A Wisconsin concern, J. I. Case Company, paid $700,000 in taxes. This was the equivalent of $6.00 a share on its outstanding stock while its stockholders received $4 a share.

The B. F. Goodrich Company paid out over 9 millions in taxes. Putting it a slightly different way the company made a profit, were it not for its taxes, of $8.08 a share, but, because of its taxes, it paid its stockholders $1.00 a share and $7.08 a share to the government, a government which, presumably, didn't own any of its stock.

Putting the situation in a little different coat we find that the American Telephone paid $8.36 in taxes for every telephone it has in service and that the company's bill was 22 per cent higher than the year before.

Fashioning up the figures from General Motors we find that although that company employed 207,315 men during 1936 its taxes were equal to $440 for each worker, an increase of about 25 per cent over the previous year.

These are interesting figures. They tell quite a story.

A KINDRED SPIRIT

Mr. Todd, addressing the International Association of Clothing Designers convention in Rochester, N. Y. last week, said that any man can be well-dressed with a wardrobe of five, or fewer, suits. He added that the trouble with designers is they have an idea that a man needs 100 or more suits to be really well dressed. And, according to The Associated Press, Mr. Todd delivered himself of this profound observation:

"The guy in the street doesn't care about such theories. He walks into a store and wants a suit. Clothes are just clothes to him and a necessary evil, perhaps."

Saying which, Mr. Todd places himself in nomination as Hero of the Year. Many a long-suffering male will want to quote Mr. Todd as author y when next he listens to the wife's disparaging comment concerning his appearance.

He will tell her that isn't true what they say in Equire and i Vogue, and that even if the Duke of Windsor does have a hundred suits, the fact doesn't support her contention that his comfortable last year's flannels should grace a scarecrow.

He can quote Mr. Todd. And, if he argues loudly enough, the odds are that he'll be trying on a new suit the next day.

But Mr. Todd would have supplied him with an argument, anyway, though he did not like to expect that he could win with it.

PINCHOT RETURNS TO THE ATTACK

Amos Pinchot who became a great liberal authority in this country about 1910 under Roosevelt the Great has taken the time to write Roosevelt the Less that if the three major measures he submitted to congress at this session were passed, that is the executive reorganization bill, the wages and hours bill, and the pack-the-court measure, the result would "throw the country into Pe cism in a fortnight," and that the President's letter to Senator Barkley made a "pica for the man government that was a repudiation of government by the representatives of the people."

Just what Mr. Roosevelt had in mind with his proposals we cannot say because we cannot read his mind. Like the boy who purloins the jam when his mother is away he may have concluded that the authority wouldn't be missed or could be returned before any harm was done.

But we think Senator Glass' attitude will help more than Mr. Pinchot's, at least a little of it won't do any harm.

In fact we rather opine the people would wake up in this country if all the elements in it joined Mr. Roosevelt in trying to wreck the nation.

Still the specific purpose of the President remains in doubt, his intentions are unknown, his guilt of bad motives hangs in the balance, and therefore, eventually, innocence may be established.

For certainly since Columbus lost sight of the Azores behind him on his fateful voyage of discovery and starless night came on no one could have felt more uncertain or insecure than this administration as to the chart of its course.

FOR PEACE, NOT WAR

It is no secret that several foreign powers support intensive air training for their youth.

Soviet Russia's "parachute towers" supply all the thrills promised by roller coaster operators in our amusement parks, plus a few frills.

Italian and German youths became increasingly air-minded.

England recruits thousands of fledgling fliers.

There is, then, much to be said in support of the program announced by the American Aeronautic Association; a program whose purpose is the training of twenty thousand airplane pilots during the next five years.

The Association's spokesman says the program will provide "insurance for keeping America first in the air and is designed particularly to meet the nationalistic air training programs being carried on in certain countries abroad."

There will be supervision of the model airplane building efforts of American boys between the ages of ten and eighteen years; lessons in gliding and soaring and, later, instruction in light plane flying for youths over eighteen.

All this is fine and the time may come when this Nation will be glad that it has a reserve of thousands of young men who are capable airplane pilots.

But there are some who will believe that the Association's spokesman puts the cart before the horse.

We do need insurance, without question, to keep "America first in the air." It is the part of wisdom to keep abreast of the "nationalistic air training programs" of other powers.

We need most of all, in the opinion of many, a new attitude toward aviation and the quality we call air-mindedness.

We are acquiring the new attitude gradually and in spite of the setbacks that aviation receives when air tragedies occur.

Aviation still has a long way to go. Americans have pioneered in aviation. And our attitude toward aviation in future should be the typically American attitude that accepts a thing that is good and uses it to further the ends of peace rather than an attitude that seizes upon aviation as a potent weapon of war.

It may be granted that those recent spectacular flights of Russian aviators have shaken our belief in our security. Conceivably, the time may come when an air armada of some foreign power may attack our coastal cities.

That time is not yet. Our Army and our Navy, and their air services, are charged with our protection. We want to believe that they will not be found wanting in a time of need.

What we need most is to develop a quality of air-mindedness in our people that will permit us to utilize to the fullest, for peaceful purposes, this great new conquest of the air which Americans first achieved.

How better can the purpose be accomplished than in training the youth of the future?

An airplane would pass over four states, a foreign country and a sea if it would take an airline route to the five corners of Texas. The distance flown would be nearly as far as from Los Angeles to New York.

TWO UNTITLED POEMS

A picture memory brings to me,
And though I wander far,
I think I love you still, but you
So seldom ever are.

I do not like the great big book
Which lately interests my cook;
For many days my thoughts have sinned,
While wife reads "Gone With the Wind."
A thousand pages in this heat,
I wonder if and when we eat;
If gals must talk without a stint,
For gosh sake, keep them out of print.

FEMINE VAGARIES

A man without ambition is like a boy without a jack-knife. He feels lost.

Love at first sight burns fiercely but usually dies out quickly.

The height of something or other is the woman who tells a secret to her best friend and expects she's going to keep it.

The worst thing about being fat is that people don't believe you're sick even if you are.

It isn't always the girl with the prettiest complexion that has the kindest heart.

Just as soon as he forgets to tell her he loves her, his wife forgets to be his sweetheart.

Some men go to church every Sunday and still haven't enough religion to last 'till they get home.

—MRS. G. W.

I think D. Grade Pulp and Mrs. G. W. went to different schools of thought together. Both take an innate delight in cynicism, or words to that effect. Zeke lets loose with some fireworks tomorrow. Wonder if Jonah will be within reading distance!!!!

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

THE OLD EDITOR

I have a memory that travels back
Forty long years—in unaccustomed shoes
And gingham dress, my brown hair tied with red.

A checkered sunbonnet upon my head,
I saw him often by the railroad track.
Meeting the trains, his keen eye seeking news.
His paper then, as now, was kind and true.

Never did gossip trail its evil there.
Newsy and bright, it was the counterpart
Of his own understanding, honest heart.
It came to us as kindly neighbors do,
Its printed pages accurate and fair.

For fifty years he has been editor.
His life as open as the paper's trend
That bears his imprint of integrity.
He illustrates how fine a life can be,
And makes us proud of him! We wish him more

Good years to be our neighbor and our friend!

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

DON'T LET THE ACID OBSESSION GET YOU DOWN

Acidosis is a state of the body, that is, the blood and tissues and cells, which sometimes occurs in the course of one or another disease. It should be clearly understood that acidosis is a result, a feature, and not a cause of the illness or disease. Acidosis is never due to acids naturally present in foods, nor is it ever produced by changes which meat or other protein food undergoes in the digestive tract.

The common notion that certain foods make the stomach acid or too acid and also make the system, the blood and tissues acid, is wrong.

To the best of my judgment there is no sound basis for the idea, still cherished by some of the elderly medical brethren who devote their leisure time to writing medical essays, that foods containing nitrogenous materials, protein, especially purines, is likely to leave an excess of uric acid in blood or tissues—indeed there is no convincing evidence that uric acid is a factor of any disease.

The less one knows about human physiology the more readily one believes silly teachings about the importance of choosing the right combinations of food. The truth is that any combination or mixture of foods that appeals to one's taste is quite as digestible, wholesome and healthful as either or any of the items of which the mixture is composed.

A question that seems to worry many gullible folk nowadays is "can one be sure to get all of the, oh, pick any number from six to thirty-eight, elements essential for health." I understand there are several elements necessary for health, but when you get beyond the digit's give up. But why worry about such academic matters? Any one whose diet includes a fair amount of milk, cream, butter, cheese, eggs, fresh vegetables, fresh greens, fresh fruits will be certain to get all the elements, all the minerals, and nearly all the vitamins he needs. If the dairy products and fresh vegetables are freely used as staples of the everyday diet, there will be no lack of minerals. As explained earlier, the important thing is to see to it that you get an adequate daily ration of Vitamin D to insure utilization of the mineral elements.

Hyperacidity of Stomach
One with gastric hyperacidity, acid stomach, hyper-chlorhydria, sour stomach, acid dyspepsia, heartburn, water-brash, hunger pain, or a suspicion of peptic gastric or duodenal ulcer should avoid seasoning things with salt of eating very salty things. He should avoid catsup, chili sauce, horseradish, mustard, spices, vinegar, pickles. He should not eat grapefruit, lemons, oranges or tomatoes. He should not eat concentrated sweets, cakes, candy. He should avoid meat soups and gravies. He should eat six meals a day instead of three or four.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Carrying
Referring to the inquiry of the girl who has to carry heavy bags from door to door. My experience has taught that resting, the elbow on the hip greatly reduces strain. Long ago a southern woman told me the old slave mammy carried the baby astride the hip and called this "toeing." (C. K.)

Answer—Thank you. Ideal way is to carry the burden either balanced on the head or knapsack fashion. Another meaning of "toeing" is the long established custom permitting the cook to carry food home to her family, as one of the emblems of her job.

Pilonidal Cyst
Husband has what doctor calls a pilonidal cyst near end of spine. Do you consider operation necessary to remove this? (Mrs. H. A. C.)

Answer—That is a cyst, a bladder, tumor having a growth of hair in it. Yes, I think the wisest and safest plan would be to have it removed, perhaps under local anesthesia without detention from business.

Thirty Per Cent Off
A year ago I sent for your booklet "Design for Dwindling" (ten cents coin and three-cent-stamped envelope bearing address). It was the luckiest thing I ever did. I dwindled from 250 to 155 pounds and look and feel so much better. But the greatest thrill I got out of it is to go into a store and see to be shown size 38 dress instead of size 50! (Mrs. M. V. D.)

Answer—And your letter is thrilling enough for me.

Your Birthday

LEO

If July 31 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m., from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m., and from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a. m., from 10:30 to 7:30 p. m., and from 10:30 p. m. until midnight.

Be careful envy does not spoil your disposition on this date. Any feeling of ill will is apt to have a very bad reaction, so do not indulge in it. You will have to be tranquil and charitable towards people of high or low degree if this day is to be a successful one. Your mental perspective of life will be reflected in your actions, so be sure that it is a pleasant one, seeing the good side of both people and things in general.

The average person on this day will be apt to have a feeling of resentment for anything that borders on being extremely formal. The spirit of personal freedom is likely to make them want to act perfectly naturally, so people who are entertaining ought to keep this in mind. Married and engaged couples, as well as sweethearts, will have to be tactfully alert that nothing they say or do will give sufficient ground for a quarrel.

If a woman and July 31 is your birthday, you ought to be a jolly entertaining type of person, easy to get along with and ambitious to gain social popularity. You probably have a vast amount of self-confidence. A quick eye and a keen ear will serve you well in gaining useful information. There appears to be a bright future ahead of you, with plenty of money to help further your aims. You may confide your personal affairs to entirely too many people, so be careful in this respect. It would seem that your best chances to make money would be in an educational, artistic, journalistic, or educational line of activity. Love seemingly will dominate your matrimonial life and domestic affairs. The child born on July 31, during its adolescence, may be a trifle difficult to make realize it cannot have its own way, due to a remarkable amount of independence. Proper training will prepare this youngster to become an outstanding character in either commercial, social, or artistic circles.

If a man and July 31 is your natal day, worthy aspirations may inspire you to perform some outstanding service to mankind. Chemistry, engineering, scientific research, theological work, lecturing, acting, or selling appear to be among the activities that should prove worthy of your sincere endeavors.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York — Bleeks is the midtown tavern where most of the newspapermen in town report for their favorite brand of oolong. It is pronounced "Blakes."

Strangers dropping into Bleeks for the first time are often jolted with the suspicion that they have happened unwittingly into the up-to-date nursery of an asylum, for the thing that greets their eyes very often surpasses understanding.

Almost invariably five or six young men at the bar will be gravely holding clenched fists behind them, then one after the other will submit one fist and suddenly open his hand. A number of matches, never more than three, will be in each hand.

After a hasty inventory, the process is repeated until, by the process of elimination, one is left. This is the "matches" game, and the stakes run from bank notes (when a reporter happens to have a bank note) to drinks.

Everybody plays "matches" at Bleeks. There is more to it than guess work. No player is permitted to hold more than three matches. If there are four men in the game, the total matches could not possibly be over 12. You hide your hands behind you, attempt to guess how many matches the others will have, then hold hands out and open. The lucky guesser is eliminated and waits patiently for the others to finish the game, the last one being stuck for the drinks.

Bleeks is also a good place to eat, if you are comfortably in the chair, although the real charm of the place is its lack of formality, its intimate atmosphere, and its convivial companionship. Such personalities as Stanley Walker, who wrote "City Editor," John O'Hara ("Butterfield 8"), Lucius Beebe, the millionaire reporter; Dick Maney, whose gift for getting things into the papers is referred to by theatrical producers as "Maney's Magic," and the like are landmarks in the place. They are the ones who have made Bleeks what it is.

As a partner at a party the other night I drew Seri, a Javanese dancer, but beforehand the host warned me that she was deaf. So I bowed and smiled but said nothing. That is a funny predicament to be in. From time to time you smile and point to things, saying nothing. Finally, with a show of impatience, Seri turned to me: "You haven't said a word all evening. Am I boring you?" Really, nothing is sacred in this town. It's getting so now a man can't even trust his own host.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — "Roosevelt luck" suffered its first major setback in the death of Senator Joe Robinson. Unquestionably the Arkansan was Maccabeus the hammer in the New Deal administration. He was the hard-hitting soldier for the righteous cause. And in only one important instance did he depart from the belief that the righteous cause was whatever his chief wanted enacted. That instance was the recent unrestricted grant of $1,500,000,000 in relief money.

It has been "Roosevelt luck" to have good weather when he wanted it (last inauguration day an exception). Even bad weather proved helpful, as when, last summer in the face of an election, the drought in the Dakotas and adjacent areas presented an opportunity for demonstration of the effectiveness of the Roosevelt relief agencies.

Iron Touch, Gone
Even death came to the aid of the President on a previous occasion, when an assassin shot down Huey Long just as he was developing from a mere noisome gadfly into a genuine menace to the Roosevelt regime.

But the death of Joe Robinson is a bad break for the administration. The President has suffered a blow to his prestige in the stern reaction to the Supreme Court bill. To Robinson fell the task of putting through the substitute to "save the face" of the President with a minimum of party rupture.

There was a chance that Robinson might have done it, although to many an observer the chance seemed steadily dwindling even before the majority leader died.

No other Maccabeus sits on the majority side in the senate. There is the buoyant but softer-textured Barkley of Kentucky. He stepped into the breach to lead for the administration in the defection of Robinson on the relief bill.

There is the cajoling, teasing Pat Harrison of Mississippi. He has been the wheel through the administration in putting through tax measures as chairman of the finance committee. Again there is slender, aggressive Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina. Until recent months he has been singing close harmony with the President but, like Robinson, defected on the relief bill.

None of the three has the iron in his touch that the administration needs in its court fight now.

Previous Heart Attack

Incidentally, Robinson had a noticeable heart-attack on the floor of the senate little more than a week before he died. He was in the midst of his opening speech on the court fight. As usual, he had spoken violently, shouting, with arms swinging. After a momentary pause he attempted to resume. His voice faltered. He appeared almost to choke but allowed no sign of real distress to reach his face. Senator Copeland of New York, a physician, quickly strode to his side, spoke to him, and sat beside him during the balance of his speech. Copeland it was who protested a few days before the debate opened that it would be "manslaughter" to keep congress in the jungle heat of a Washington summer. But Robinson was unafraid. In his opening speech he jibed at the staying power of the opposition. He said he was in better shape than Wheeler of Montana, leader of the court opposition. It seems he was mistaken.

The principle of the electric cell was discovered by Luigi Galvani, an Italian anatomist.

New Law Protects Students Against 'Racket' Schools

Legislation Enacted to Regulate Correspondence Courses

A new measure of protection for Wisconsin students from correspondence schools of the "racket" type has been extended by the 1937 legislature in the enactment of a bill which received the governor's approval, Herbert H. Helbig, Appleton High school principal, said today.

Schools offering home study courses now must submit copies of their courses and sales contracts to the state superintendent of public instruction and file an indemnity bond ranging from $2,000 to $10,000, he said.

Prospective students are advised by John Callahan, state superintendent, to ascertain from his office whether a particular course offered is on file. If not, they are cautioned to be wary of an agent making the representations and are requested to send his name and address to the local superintendent, E. J. Rohan, the principal or district attorney.

Prompted by Depression
The legislation was said to be prompted by depression conditions which kept thousands of high school graduates from going to college and who were led to register for home study courses under extravagant promises made by agents of out-of-state schools. Heavy individual losses were reported by many students.

One of the principal evils attributed to such schools is now legislated against in a provision that no promise of a job may be made without a written agreement for it between school and employer. Upon violation, the amount of the fee may be recovered by the student in an action for debt.

Under this law, teachers are charged with responsibility for reporting violations coming to their notice. Local superintendents are required to investigate complaints and report the facts, if necessary, to the state superintendent, who in turn is charged with obtaining compliance from the offending school, and, through the attorney-general, is authorized to begin any necessary legal action.

Ken Dickinson Winner Of Flag Tournament on Junior Day at Golf Club

KEN DICKINSON, JR., won the flag tournament for the junior day Thursday at North Shore Golf club. The number of strokes to be taken before planting the flag was the handicap plus par. Ken, with 46 strokes, planted his flag on the fairway of the tenth hole.

GIVEN HONOR

About 25 of the young members ate dinner together at one long table on the porch. After dinner there was dancing and some swimming. The treasure hunt began at 8:30, and armed with flashlights the junior members set out in twos and threes for the golf course to follow the starting clue which had been read to them before it was posted on the bulletin board. Most of the hunters had trouble finding the first clue but were able to find others by signing each clue as proof they had found it, and following each clue they ran across the majority of the crowd finished the treasure hunt. Ken and Lane Dickinson and Tad Shepard were the lucky trio who found the prize of 200 pennies on the slope in the clubhouse kitchen. Tired and thirsty, the group trooped into the clubhouse and refreshed themselves with root beer and coca cola.

The committee in charge of the junior events consists of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Severson, chairman and co-chairman, Miss Peggy Kimberly, Miss Peggy Jennings, Miss Ann Shattuck and Bruce Purdy. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kimberly also assisted with the treasure hunt.

Next week's event has not been definitely scheduled, but it probably will be a picnic supper with some kind of entertainment after it.

Result of five more matches in the July handicap tournament for women at Butte des Morts Golf club have been posted at the clubhouse. In the first flight, Mrs. August Brandt won from Mrs. W. J. Frayley by default and was then defeated by Mrs. George Theiss, 1 up. In the 9-hole flight Mrs. J. J. Plank won by default from Mrs. E. S. Schrank. Mrs. George Beckley defeated Miss Zella Morrell, 2 up; and Mrs. Beckley then won from Mrs. Plank, 2 up.

Parties

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Fisher, Chicago, and Mrs. Harrison Fisher, Minneapolis, who are visiting Mrs. A. B. Fisher have been entertained at several small parties and informal gatherings during their stay in Appleton. Thursday noon Mrs. Alex J. Manier, 1007 N. W. Main street, entertained Mrs. Burt Fisher, Mrs. Harrison Fisher, Mrs. A. B. Reformatory Is Forty Years Old Started in 1897

State Board of Control Marks Fortieth Birth-day of Institution

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Officials of the state board of control this week were celebrating informally the birth of the Wisconsin state reformatory four decades ago.

Historians of the board, which governs the reformatory and all other state penal and charitable institutions, recalled that it was in 1897 that the legislature finally lent an ear to the demands that had been made for twenty years before that the state build a reformatory to supplement its prison facilities, and appropriated $75,000 for the erection of the institution between Green Bay and DePere.

From that meager beginning, the reformatory has grown in 40 years into an institution capable of housing more than 800 inmates, with a total assessed valuation of approximately $1,600,000, with a staff of approximately 100, an annual expenditure of more than $250,000. During those years more than 10,000 inmates have served terms there.

Close-Filed
Legislators in 1897 were more close-fisted than their 1937 successors, the records show. In the session of that year, after repeated and urgent demands by the state board of control, prison wardens and social workers, they set aside $75,000 to buy 200 acres of land and to begin construction of a reformatory which would care for 600 male prisoners, aged 16 to 30.

The work was begun immediately under the direction of James E. Heg, the first superintendent. A site was chosen and 100 acres were purchased for $15,000. Early in 1898 the institution was opened, with temporary quarters for 24 inmates, transferred from the state prison at Waupun.

In the years succeeding additions have been gradually added with inmate labor as appropriations have been made available by the legislature. In the first annual report Superintendent Heg wrote enthusiastically that "the plans for the reformatory are complete in all details. Having seen nearly every penal establishment in the country I believe that no prison or reformatory in the United States can compare with it when completed in the essentials of light, sanitation, security and convenience; yet the cost will not approximate that of similar institutions."

State Object
When the legislature authorized the reformatory building, it stated its object as follows: "The fitting of the inmates for a return to life in the free world the better for their confinement, and if possible, reformed."

The first prison building had no gratings on the windows or bars on the doors. Heg's first report reveals, "so that it is small wonder that three boys promptly escaped."

The first superintendent was as firm believer in the idea that work, hard work, had a beneficial effect on the prisoners. "The theory of the reformatory," he wrote in one report "is not leniency, but discipline, correction and reformation."

In the early days of the institution there was considerable difficulty in finding enough work for the prisoners to do. Even in those days there was the prison labor problem, and general agitation from private parties against prison-manufactured products.

Population Climbs
Population of the reformatory climbed slowly through the years, reaching a peak in the height of the depression, in 1932, of 808 persons. Since that time there has been a gradual decline, board of control census reports show, which is attributed to a change in the age

DANCE CHAIRMAN

Mrs. Robert Roemer, above, is chairman of the summer charity ball which will be given by the Service circle of the Appleton King's Daughters Wednesday night at Riverview Country club. Since announcements have been sent to out-of-town patrons and patronesses of the circle's charities, the affair will probably be attended by a large share of Fox River valley society. Tickets will be sold at the door, the committee in charge has announced.

limits from 17 to 30 years to 16 to 25 years, the improved probation and parole system, and the federal CCC camps. The last available report, for April of this year, shows a daily average of 477 persons.

Today the reformatory inmates farm more than 1000 acres of land, and produce annually many thousand bushels of grain, potatoes, and other crops. Prison industries, according to valuations of the board of control, are worth $294,000. The reformatory maintains two honor farms, one at Oneida, just across the Browne county line in Outagamie county, where a 300 acre tract is cultivated, and where an all granite building has been erected to house 50 boys. The other farm is at Amberg, where the prison operates a granite quarry of 120 acres, which contains enough granite for all of the state government's building needs for many years to come. Currently workers at the quarry are preparing stone for the new state office building in Madison.

Calumet County Farm Inspectors at School
A school of instruction for Calumet county farm inspectors for the federal soil conservation program was under way today at the courthouse at Chilton. Homer Smith, district fieldman, and Chester DuMont, assistant Outagamie county agent and secretary of the Calumet county allotment committee, were in charge of the session.

A similar session for inspectors who will work in Outagamie county will be held at the courthouse here Aug. 9, according to R. C. Swanson, county agent. Inspection work will begin the following day.

Ask Transfer of Funds For Building of School
Transfer of $10,000 from the exterior fund to the contingency fund for construction of the new senior high school is asked of the common council by the school board in a letter filed with City Clerk Carl Becher today. The request will be considered by the council at its regular meeting next Wednesday evening. The transfer is asked because of higher material prices and labor wages.

PWA approval is needed to make the transfer.

Pegler Does a Little Speculating on Heaven

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—I usually shun thoughts of heaven because it always has been impossible for me to imagine complete, unending happiness, and every attempt to visualize that state has shattered against the hard walls of limited view. Nor am I enchanted by the words of a clergyman who last Sunday depicted heaven as a joyous place where angels sing and dance.

My dancing days are over, and even as a ringsider I seem to be approaching the end of my time, because I find that my taste runs more and more to the quiet, oaken restaurants which have roomy chairs with arms on them and specialize in mutton chops and baked potatoes rather than frivolous food and floor shows.

I am one of those who do not care much for dancing, and as for joy, I am afraid that the joy of contentment is one of the best. The joy of ambition—a painful pleasure, to be sure—would seem to be forbidden in heaven, for I am informed that ambition was severely rebuked in a famous case a long time ago.

That would put me in an uncomfortable fix. I would want a job on a paper arguing with issues day after day and arguing with the boss over a new contract every few hundred million light years. But I couldn't do that in heaven, could I?

I am afraid that I am temperamentally, not to say morally, unfit to dwell in heaven, because I would be just the one to find some fault with the administration or to gossip about my neighbor on the next cloud. In my time I have known many good people who, by all the rules that we are given to know, should be in heaven now but who would irritate me there, as they did on earth.

Some good people are frightful prigs, and I might find myself saying uncharitable things about them, as I did, to my regret, when they were with us. I might find myself thrown among prohibitionists—a class which certainly professed to comply with the commandments and many of whom doubtless did comply. How could I possibly get on with a prohibitionist, a member of the Ku Klux Klan or an Italian soldier who died bravely but, to my belief, despicably in an attempt to impose fascism, which I despise and hate, upon the Spaniards?

Let's Quit Killing
And if these angry, silly contemptible little things to hate for, God give us that we may quit hating and killing for little things in the name of God.

I have in mind a more or less professional gambler who died a few years ago about this time of year at Saratoga. He was the most interesting companion I ever met, and though he believed it his mission on earth to hate for, God give us that we may quit hating and killing for little things in the name of God.

He did not hate even prohibitionists or reformers. He hated nobody but the double-crosser, and his greatest joy was to play faro. He preferred to win, and he generally lost, but he always enjoyed playing faro. If he had gone to heaven he would find a faro bank where he can twist the tail of old time, and if so how can he lose, because won't he know all the answers in advance?

And if there is no chance of his losing what joy will faro be to him, remembering that the element of chance was the source of his joy in playing the game? I am not being flippant, but only wondering what sort of place heaven is if so strangely assorted and opposing classes of souls can meet there in perfect peace, everlasting joy, with the pleasures of no one class offending the morals or sensibilities of any other? And how can one be generous or charitable in heaven, where all are rich?

Recently I read, following the death of Josh Wilson, an old-time is—a reporter cut off from his paper on the far side of a flood, with the greatest scoop in the history of the world and nothing to do but wrap it around a rock and throw it into space.

It is enough to drive a man nuts. A long time ago my old man caught a big story on a fast train and scooped the town by putting five silver dollars into an envelope with his living human document and tossing it off the tailboard of the observation car at Gosport, Ind. Maybe it was only two dollars, but the expense account said five. Anyway, the envelope hit the station platform with a clank, and the telegraph operator blew him a kiss from the distance as the train went round the bend, and my old man went with the confession of the defuncting banker or whatever it was.

I am sorry for Josh Wilson in heaven; God rest his soul

Iowa newspaper reporter, a reprint of a beautiful little piece which he had written some years before, speculating on the difference to him in that billionth part of a second between his death and the entry of his soul into heaven.

I worked in Des Moines in 1913—a few months after Josh Wilson left there to go to Storm Lake to run a paper of his own—and never met him, although I knew many friends of his.

His essay gloated because in the flicker of an eyelash, he, a humble reporter, would know the answer to a question that all the philosophers and scientists of all time never had solved. But there Josh er and candidate of the four Democratic borough organizations outside Tammany-controlled Manhattan.

The harmony session, which Senator Copeland also attended, was marred by the walkout of acting Tammany Leader William P. Kenneally, in opposition to a move to elect an immediate successor to Dooling. Smith's forces said, however, they would meet Monday, despite Kenneally's objections, and choose the new leader.

Formal return of Smith to an active political role emphasized the New Deal as an election issue.

Which is supported by Democratic leaders friendly to Postmaster General James A. Farley. Copeland has opposed many measures sponsored by the national administration, and Smith has been a vitriolic critic of New Deal policies.

LaGuardia's announcement, after several days of silence, that he was willing to accept the Republican nomination foreshadowed a hectic race in the G. O. P. primary, which Copeland, hoping to Garner anti-New Deal support, reiterated last night he would enter.

Brooklyn Republicans were left free to support either man when an organization meeting, voting to endorse LaGuardia, was deadlocked by a tie vote.

The strongest test of LaGuardia's strength in G. O. P. ranks was expected late today when Republicans of New York county vote on a candidate. Kenneth F. Simon, county chairman, has advanced a ticket headed by LaGuardia.

Receive Material for WPA Sewing Project
A shipment of 4,000 yards of cloth has been received from the government surplus commodities department at the central application bureau of Outagamie county. The material will be converted into clothing by women employed on the WPA project at the old post office building and at the Kaukauna Public library. The material includes muslin, suiting, denim, chambray and flannel.

None Too Pleasant to Fumble Setting Trick

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Few things are more embarrassing than to have the setting trick of a game contract in one's hand and to see it trickle from between one's fumbling fingers. The personal loss is bad enough, but the look that comes into partner's pleasant eyes, a nice blending of incredulity, loathing, and even a little pity, is not a pleasant sight to behold. Sometimes (very rarely) it is not only natural but logical to risk the setting trick in favor of what appears to be a sure larger penalty. This might happen without discredit when partner's bidding has been such as virtually to insure that he holds a certain honor which, it develops, he does not hold!

But West, in today's hand, had no alibi whatsoever for his failure to grab the setting trick.

South, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Question: What are the requirements for a double raise of partner's suit bid?
Answer: Better than adequate trump support (at least four trumps headed by the jack or better) and in addition, two honor tricks if the hand contains a singleton; two and a half if the hand contains a doubleton, and three honor tricks if the distribution is 4-3-3-3.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

JO-JOTTE POINTER

Question: "We have had quite a discussion over a double I made in a game of Jo-Jotte. The turned trump was the nine of clubs. My opponent bid hearts, and my hand was North's raise was the height of optimism. With only one honor trick and no five card suit he had a splendid pass in response to the no trump.

After West had opened the diamond queen and South got his first glimpse of his glorious dummy his glare at partner (which was perfectly sincere) might have been the reason for West's subsequent failure to play safe. In other words, West might have interpreted the glare to mean that South was nowhere near his contract. If he did, however, he had only himself to blame. The diamond queen was allowed to hold and the suit was continued. Declarer won and led the queen of hearts, which West ducked. East won and returned a diamond. Declarer won and continued to clear his heart suit. West took his ace and cashed his diamond, then laid down the club king. Declarer pounced on this with the ace and immediately led back the low club.

At this point West had his brainstorm. He ducked! With four tricks already home he should have taken no chances about the fifth and setting trick. Declarer already had taken two diamonds and one club, and West could see that he had two heart tricks ready for cashing. It was all very well to hope that East had the club jack and to fear that the play of the queen at this point might drop that card. But another and more serious consideration should have entered the picture. To pass this present club lead and risk declarer winning it, thus reducing all hands to five cards, would put West in the uncomfortable position of having to discard on the two hearts that certainly would be forthcoming. As a matter of fact, West found himself in just that jam.

When he ducked the second club lead declarer then ran off his two high hearts. On the second of these West looked fruitlessly for a safe discard. To let go the club queen would be fatal, as South's jack would be promoted to a trick. But West found it was equally fatal to discard a spade, because declarer then laid down the spade king, dropping the jack, and led another spade to the A-10 in dummy for the fulfilling tricks.

My Neighbor Says—

The watering of plants is very important at this season. Water is more effective than fertilizer in causing roots to bloom again, and all the perennials need water. Willing may be checked if the tops are sprinkled, but permanent relief, when the soil is dry, can be obtained only by applying enough water to reach the roots.

Plain omelets may be baked on wafer tins. Put 2 tablespoons of omelet mixture into heated iron and cook about 2 minutes.

To make grated orange peel with sugar to be used in flavoring pies, cakes, etc., grate off thin yellow rind of oranges, being careful not to get any of the bitter white underneath. Place in a pan, cover with thin layer of sugar and seal tight.

Brushes that have become hardened with varnish may be softened in wood alcohol.

White enamel ware may be cleaned by dipping a wet cloth into baking soda and rubbing it on ware. Do not use the soda sparingly.

Flood of Rocks Is More Than He Bargained For

Tacoma, Wash.—(AP)—Walter Sutter needs no one to convince him of the power of the press. In 18 months, persons who read the story sent or brought him more than 800 tons of stones. In a single day, more than 50 tons arrived by mail, truck and on the rear seats of visitors' sedans.

Rocks from every state in the union, from 22 countries, all the continents and 14 volcanoes are scattered over the garden.

Two years ago, The Associated Press Feature Service distributed a story concerning Sutter's rock garden, to which visitors were admitted only if they brought rocks to add to the collection.

At that time his garden consisted of one small waterfall and some 200 or 300 rocks he had collected himself.

Today, Sutter lives among rocks, on top of rocks and between rocks.

Thilmany Mill, New Loop Entry, Drops 1st Game

Kappells Easily Win Over Papermakers 11 to 0

Kaukauna—Thilmany mill-office force, new entry in the Twilight Softball league, got its first taste of play last night as it was defeated by the Kappell outfit 11-0. The new team is replacing the Kemke softballers, who withdrew from the league after losing the first game of the second round. Play will continue in the league tonight with the South Side Merchants meeting the Ritz Taverns. Both are new teams in the second round of the league, the Ritz a new entry, and the Merchants a rebuilt squad, strengthened after a weak first half showing.

Kappells had little trouble winning their game last night, scoring once in the first inning, and adding six more to the total in the second to put the victory on ice. They scored three more in the fourth and one in the fifth. Errors accounted for many of their runs, as the new squad was a little slow in getting started.

Strikes Out 9
Billy Alger struck out nine of the office workers as he kept them scoreless. Fritz Luedtke, on the mound for the white collar boys, struck out three.

The addition of the new team to the league resulted from a quick decision on the part of the players. Many league members already felt that the withdrawal of Kemkes at this stage of the season would mean the finishing of the league with only five teams, an undesirable situation for the other squads.

Managers of the Pantry Lunch and Ritz Tavern teams, who already have victories chalked up against the Kemke outfit, have consented to play the office force squad to give them a fair chance at the second round bunting. The Pantry had beaten Kemkes and the Ritz boys had a forfeit from them.

Personnel of the new Thilmany office force team is: Clifford Rogers, catcher; Fred Luedtke, pitcher; Richard Eslein, first base; Herbert Gerend, second base; Arthur Gerhartz, third base; Edward Misinski, shortstop; Webster Haas, deep short; Tom Misinski, left field; Marcus Nigl, center field; Herman Maes, right field.

Pantry Lunch will play this team next Monday, and the Ritz, a week from Monday.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Mrs. Mike Milton entertained members of the Loyal Star 500 club at her home Wednesday afternoon. Prizes were won by Mrs. Christina Hoffman, Mrs. John Leick, Mrs. Mike Milton, and Mrs. Albert Vanevenhoven.

A farewell party in honor of Mrs. Herman Miller, 304 Lawe street, who will leave for Madison Aug. 1, was held at the home of Mrs. Mike Klein by the Sheephead club early this week. A dinner was served and cards played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Herman Miller, Mrs. Arthur Kromer and Mrs. Arthur Godfrey.

A farewell party by the family of Mrs. Bertha Lemke, who will leave for Madison Aug. 1, was held Wednesday night at the Hugo Lemke home. The prize in sheephead was won by Mrs. Hugo Lemke.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Kaukauna—Mrs. M. Ristau, Phil McCay, Mrs. Miles Adrians and her mother returned to Kaukauna after a trip that included stops at Stevens Point, Marshfield and Colby. The group was accompanied by Mrs. Adrians' sister at Colby.

Miss Connie Orfield, Chilton, is visiting at the home of Mrs. Mike Niesen.

Mrs. Ulrich Senn and son, Roger, Milwaukee, Mrs. Mary Knorr, Evansville, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Knorr and daughter, Betty Ann, Newburg, N. Y., visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Kline early this week.

Miss Agnes Ives returned yesterday after spending 10 days with relatives at Manitowish.

William Baier will leave tonight for Salem, where he will spend a vacation visiting friends.

Mrs. Celia Griswold, Kalamazoo, Mich., returned to her home Wednesday after spending a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Ristau.

Miss Betty Klumb is spending a week with the Rev. Alfred Klumb and family, Shawano.

Robert Helf and Jack Blake are spending two weeks camping at Shawano lake.

Miss Irma Wrede returned to Milwaukee after spending a short visit at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Mayer.

Sister M. William and Sister M. Romano of the Holy Family Convent, Manitowish, are spending a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dittler.

PROBE COMPLAINTS

Kaukauna—The board of review started yesterday to inspect property on which taxpayers had filed complaints in an effort to have assessments lowered. When all complaints have been investigated the board will pass judgment on the assessments.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. James Lang is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Senior Cage League Is Organized at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—A senior basketball league was organized for older boys on the library playgrounds yesterday, as four teams were selected for competition, under the supervision of Clifford Kemp, recreational director.

Four teams were led by the following captains: Leland Lambie, Sherman Powers, Willet Ranquette and James Sanders. Play will start tomorrow in the league, with Lambie's outfit meeting the cagers led by Powers.

Basketball will be alternated with baseball on the schedule for the playground games. The senior boys finished their first round in the hardball league Wednesday and will continue to play basketball until all on one round is finished in that sport. Then they will play their second round of baseball and continue alternating the sports until the schedule is finished.

Games set for the first round in the basketball loop are: Lambie versus Powers, Ranquette versus Sanders, Lambie versus Ranquette, Powers versus Sanders, Ranquette versus Powers, Lambie versus Sanders.

A junior league in basketball will begin when the younger boys finish their baseball first round schedule.

Make Progress on Sewer Project

Cut for Installation on Maloney Road Now Is Down 15 Feet

Kaukauna—Work on the city sewer job on Maloney road reached its deepest cut this week as WPA workmen on the project are cutting down 15 feet at a point near the intersection of Maloney road and High streets.

The project, which will connect most of the homes in the section of the city known as the Settlement with the city sewage system, is being done as a WPA project this summer, with funds for labor being furnished by the federal government. The entire pipe line is 3,100 feet long.

Two shifts of nine men each are digging, all hand work. Each group is allowed to work 84 hours in a month, and the labor is divided in shifts of alternate weeks rather than by changes of workmen each day. Construction is being carried on under the direction of sewer committee, of which Alderman Jule Mertes is chairman.

Reserve Officers Given Assignments

Kaukauna—Kaukauna young men, members of the Reserve Officers association and now attending military training camp at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., received commissions for the rest of the camp period this week, according to an announcement by Colonel Joseph A. Atkins, post commander at the camp.

Lieutenant William Nelson is assigned to Company G. Lieutenant Ross Farwell has been assigned to the first battalion machine gun company as athletic officer. Lieutenant Nicholas Bisterstecker, Little Chute, has been named second battalion assistant administrative officer. The young men will be on duty training CMTC boys until Aug. 5.

Two Kaukauna Women Attend Summer School

Kaukauna—Two Kaukauna people are attending summer school at Northern university, Evanston, Ill. Miss Idabel Glenzer, 105 W. Fifth street, a teacher in the West Allis public schools, and Miss Catherine Alice Whittier, 409 Crooks avenue, a teacher in the North Fond du Lac school system, are taking courses at the university. There are 4,600 students attending the summer session there.

Longshoremen Will Hold First Picnic

Kaukauna—Local 1441, International Longshoremen's union, which includes all government workers on the Fox river, will hold their first picnic since the group's organization this spring, at the Kaukauna Gun club tomorrow.

The picnic will begin at 9 a. m. and last all day. A softball game between the lock tenders and the boat men will be played in the afternoon.

$15,000 Loss as Fire Razes Bohm Farm Buildings that licked out from the barn, catching everything near it. The hay burned until late at night and still smoldered today.

Lack of a water supply prevented fire departments from doing anything to halt the fire already out of control by the time they arrived, so volunteers concentrated their efforts on saving nearby buildings and fields of shocked grain.

Volunteer Workers
Neighbors and volunteers worked with garden hose and bucket brigades to wet the roofs of the Bohm residence and of the houses nearby. Fire broke out on the roof of the F. A. Mundt house on the corner of the Rose Hill road and Highway 41, and on the roof of the Henry Hietpas barn, about a block away on 41, but bucket brigades stopped the fires from spreading. Brands as big as saucers were flying in the wind to the south.

From the blaze was terrific, as flames leaped high into the sky and heat waves radiated in all directions from the fire. The Anton Miller farm buildings, just outside the path of the wind swept brands, were so heated that sides of the walls could not be touched with the hand.

150 Tons of Hay
The white barn, built by Mrs. Bohm last year at a cost of $5,000 was filled with 150 tons of the new alfalfa crop, which was stored to feed the herd of cattle that furnishes milk for the Rose Hill dairy, operated by Ray Bohm. The building stood 40 feet high, on a 36 by 90 foot foundation.

Two stave silos, built in 1933 and 1935 were wiped out. The machine shed, 22 by 66 feet, built two years ago, was filled with all of the farm machinery, every piece of which was ruined. The 2-story granary, 36 by 40 feet, held 75 bushels of last year's barley and 30 bushels of oats.

A chicken coop 15 to 25 feet went up with the rest of the buildings. Most of the chickens escaped and were found in the evening huddled together in a nearby field.

Seven calves and the bull of the farm herd perished in the blaze. Twenty other cattle were in the pasture and saved, as were four horses, whose harnesses were burned.

Residence Saved
The farm residence, a brick building protected on the side toward the barn by a large tree, was saved by the tree and the constant pouring of water on its roof by the bucket brigade.

Richard Bohm said the blaze spread so fast that he and Feldt could do nothing to stop it. "There was a sudden light from the combustion," he said, "and when I looked up the mow already was on fire."

A tractor which had been running the hammer mill with a 50-foot belt, stood outside the barn. Its motor was running but the flame spread so fast that the heat prevented Feldt from getting to the tractor to drive it away. "All I had time to do was run out of the barn," he said, "I tried to get to the tractor, but the fire was already too hot."

Spread Swiftly
Paul Felt, another workman, who had been cleaning harnesses at the east end of the barn had no time to save anything before the flame swept through the whole building, from the west end where the hammer mill was set up.

Ray Bohm had left shortly before the fire on an intended trip to Oshkosh. His son went after him as soon as he had turned in the alarms, and the two accidentally met on College avenue in Appleton. When they came back there was no hope of saving any of the buildings.

About a dozen large apple trees were killed, one of them burned down to a skeleton trunk and a charred fork of dead wood. One on the north side of the barn and out of the path of the wind, had been loaded this year. It stands charred black, the burned apples hanging on its branches. The garden, in the path of the wind, is half scorched. Two long grape arbors that had vines in full foliage, hold only dried and wilted leaves.

Grass Fires
Grass fires broke out in the orchard of the F. A. Mundt property, and in the meadow on the south side of Highway 41, over a block away from the fire.

About 50 volunteers helped to protect property in the vicinity.

Farmers brought milk cans full of water that was used to wet down roofs. Some men stood guard in nearby grain fields to stop fires. Fire apparatus was useless as there was no large reservoir from which to pump water. The nearest hydrant was at Williamson's greenhouse, Little Chute, about a half mile away.

Cattle Saved
While the hay was still blazing the cattle came home from the pasture, bellowing, at milking time. They were driven to the barn of the Louis farm, a half mile west of the Bohm place, which Ray Bohm rents.

Spectators formed a large circle around the burning property, and neighbor women crowded the porch of the Bohm home. There was a man or two on every roof in the vicinity, some with pails of water, others with garden hose.

Comedy that broke in on the tragedy of the scene happened at the Miller farm, when family members suddenly missed the cat. Soon they heard it, however—from the cistern. A broom handed down in the cistern was good enough support for pussy to climb out.

Reichel's Cubs Win From Steffens' Sox

Kaukauna—Don Reichel's Cubs defeated Nick Steffens' Sox 15-8 in a hardball game played in the boys' junior league on the library grounds yesterday morning.

There were no games played in the senior league, as basketball was started for the older boys. The first round of their hardball schedule is finished with Harold Walsh's team leading the league with three wins and no losses. Baseball will be continued after another week.

Plant Soon Will Start Operation

Final Preparations to Run Sewage Into System Being Made

Kaukauna—Signs of making ready to run sewage into the new disposal plant soon were in evidence around the project today as drainage water from the interceptor sewer is flowing through the by-pass past the plant, and concrete is being poured to make the connection of the interceptor sewer to the plant.

The connection to the plant is considered to be the last big job in the completion of the plant, for all adjustments and finishing work on equipment must be done at the plant before the connection is made.

Tile flooring in the office and laboratory is laid, and the offices are painted. These rooms are now ready for the furniture and fixtures to be moved into them. Painting is continuing in the building and applying the aluminum paint covering of the machinery began early this week.

Tennis Doubles Finals Are Scheduled Saturday

Kaukauna—Finals in the tennis doubles tournament for Kaukauna High school boys will be held tomorrow at the library courts. Winners who have fought their way to the finals are Arthur Koehne and Robert Nagan on one team, and Robert Cooper and Leeland Lambie on the other.

Plan Drawings for First Flight of City Golf Tourney

Kaukauna—Drawings for the first flight of match play in the City Handicap Golf tournament, being played at the Kaukauna Golf course, will be made tomorrow night, after the week of qualifying rounds is finished, Ernest Killick, pro at the course, said today.

Two tournaments are being run concurrently at the golf course, in which anyone in Kaukauna may enter, and the President's Cup tournament, which is open to club members only. Both tournaments are handicap affairs, and when the handicaps are set and the drawings made, match play will be ready to start, at the beginning of the week. Finals will probably be played in the early part of September.

Thilmany Mill Office Team Whips Boy Scouts

Kaukauna—The office force of Thilmany mill outdistanced the boy scouts of Troop 31 in a softball hitting melee, 18-17, in a game played at the troop meeting at the Kaukauna Gun club grounds Wednesday night.

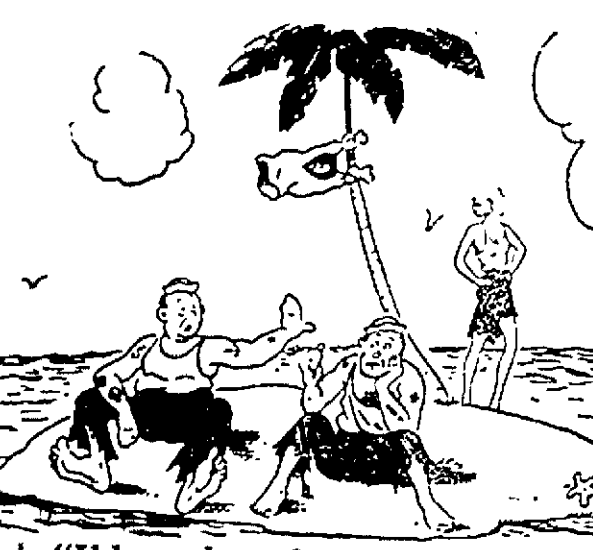

Fritz Luedtke and Richard Eslein were on the mound for the winners. The scout team was composed of Tom Baier, Bob Lang, Neil McCarty, Clifford Kalista, Paul Gillen, Jerome Faust, Alphonse Faust, James Mulholland, Charles Wagner and Bob Eiding. Troop 31 will meet again Aug. 11 at the Gun club.

OIL ROADWAY
Kaukauna—Oiling of the road between the Thilmany paper mill and the pulp mill this week is the only street oiling that will be done in Kaukauna this year.

North and south side road districts will not apply any oil to city streets, Alderman Oscar Alger, chairman of the board of public works, said.

Shea Uses Trowel As Cornerstone Is Swung in Place

Winnebago Board Chairman Officiates at Ceremony in Oshkosh

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—If political prognosticators expected fireworks resembling the famous feud of the "Martins and the Coys" at the laying of Winnebago county's new $1,000,000 courthouse and jail cornerstone, Thursday afternoon, they were disappointed.

A friendly sun shone warmly and a "goodly crowd was there" when J. F. Shea, chairman of the Winnebago county board, grasped the silver trowel and slapped the mortar in place around the copper box, crammed to the brim with tokens and mementoes.

LAY CORNERSTONE OF COURTHOUSE IN OSHKOSH

This picture was taken at Oshkosh yesterday afternoon just as the cornerstone of the new $1,000,000 Winnebago county courthouse was being laid at ceremonies which attracted a big crowd. At the left is County Judge D. E. McDonald, one of the speakers, and at the right is J. F. Shea, chairman of the county board, just after placing the cornerstone in position.

'Toastmasters' Manual Available at Library

Menasha—A book entitled "The Toastmasters' Manual" which gives instruction on how to preside at meetings and banquets is one of the new volumes received by the Eliza D. Smith library. The book is edited by Harold W. Donohue.

It does not confine itself to just that, however, according to the publishers, but tells you "how to throw a cold audience, how to handle hecklers and drunks, and how to curb long-winded speakers."

When to celebrate and why is the information contained in another new book on holidays called "The American Book of Days" by George W. Douglas.

A scientific book simplified for the layman and yet containing information on the latest developments in physics, astronomy and other fields written by Rogers Rusk has been received by the library. It is entitled "Atoms, Men, and Stars."

Following is a list of new non-fiction volumes:

"The Negro Genius" by Benjamin Brawley; "10 Decisive Battles of Christianity" by Frank S. Mead; "How to Develop Personal Power" by Dick Carlson; "The American Singer" by Oscar Thompson; "The Exploration of the Inner Mind" by Arthur T. Sisson; "Water Color Printing of Today" by Mark Reed's new 32 comedy, "Yes, My Darling Daughter," is now on the shelves at the library, along with a book of poems by Robert Frost entitled "A Further Range."

New fiction volumes include "Call It Freedom" by Marian Sims; "Met Mr. Lochinvar" by Marie Bizzard; and "The Gentleman of the Party" by A. G. Street.

Neenah Society

Neenah—The Eagles Auxiliary entertained at nine tables of cards yesterday afternoon. Following is the list of prize winners:

Sheephead, Mrs. August Wruck; Mrs. John Jageron, Mrs. Walter Hauke; bridge, Mrs. Effie Benjamin; Mrs. Harry Smith; whist, Mrs. Christine Jensen, Mrs. Ed Williams; door prize, Mrs. T. H. Coats.

Plans are being formulated by the auxiliary for the annual picnic which will be held next Tuesday afternoon at Riverside park. Mrs. Sadie Scherer is chairman of the committee for the card games which will start at 2 o'clock.

Menasha Men Attend

Menasha—A group of men from this city attended the laying of the cornerstone of the new Winnebago county courthouse at Oshkosh yesterday afternoon.

The Rev. W. P. Mortell of the St. Patrick Catholic church here delivered the benediction at yesterday's ceremonies. Other men from the city who were present were Carl Hekrodt, city treasurer, A. J. Seithamer, and Edward G. Sonnenberg.

Menasha Personal

Menasha—Mr. and Mrs. William Masters, Hotel Menasha, have returned to Menasha following a week's visit at Chassel, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Emmerson, 335 Winnebago avenue, Menasha, returned Thursday from Milwaukee where they visited friends for several days.

Postmaster Joseph Coyle returned last night from Superior where he attended the convention of the Wisconsin Postmasters' association held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Carl Drexler and daughter, Sylvia, 800 Keys street, left this morning for Madison where they will spend several weeks visiting relatives and friends. While there they will be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Robin Buckel. Dr. Buckel is superintendent of the Wisconsin general hospital at Madison.

Mayor and Mrs. Walter E. Held and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wassmann of Appleton left this morning for Pickers Lake where they will stay until this weekend.

Board of Review to Meet Next Monday

Menasha—The board of review will meet Monday morning at 10 o'clock at which time taxpayers may appear on matters relating to the assessed valuation of their properties.

Members of the board are as follows: Mayor Walter E. Held, R. M. Heckner and Joseph Stommel; assessors, City Treasurer Carl Hekrodt, and City Clerk Walter Dougherty.

TURNED OVER TO POLICE

Menasha—Thomas Kosloski, 365 Oak street, was arrested by Menasha police and turned over to Sheriff Paul Neubauer this morning. He was charged with deserting his wife and family.

City Group Takes Title in Tennis

Winners Score Victories in Nine of Fourteen Matches

Neenah—Neenah tennis group members Thursday annexed the Neenah Tennis league net title when they defeated the Doty Tennis group at the high school courts.

The winners took nine out of fourteen matches and had little difficulty with the more inexperienced Islanders. Both singles and doubles matches were played. Members of the winning team are Dick Lemberg, Bob Ryan, Warren Kettering, Warren Joncher, Phil Arpin, Jack Draheim, Buxton Kettering, Michael Tembelis, Harold Dieckhoff, Herbert Kramer and Bob Ackerman.

The boys' singles net tournament started at the high school courts this morning. The meet is being supervised by Ivan Williams, tennis instructor.

Menasha Society

Menasha—The Jolly 12 Bridge club held a chicken supper at the cottage owned by John Schneider at Waverly beach last night. After the dinner cards were played and the following ladies won prizes: Mrs. Frank Lickert, Mrs. Ahrens, Mrs. John Schneider, and Mrs. Hattie Schiffer.

Miss Alice Lanzer and Miss Dolores Christiansen entertained at a shower in honor of Miss Jane Bryan last night in the Canteen. Tea room in Appleton. Miss Bryan will be married to Hugh Avey late next month.

Prizes in cards were won by the Misses Zeda Steffek, Marion Clough, Betty Ashenbrenner, Irene Remick. The bride-to-be was presented with gifts.

Menasha Men Attend Cornerstone Laying

Menasha—A group of men from this city attended the laying of the cornerstone of the new Winnebago county courthouse at Oshkosh yesterday afternoon.

The Rev. W. P. Mortell of the St. Patrick Catholic church here delivered the benediction at yesterday's ceremonies. Other men from the city who were present were Carl Hekrodt, city treasurer, A. J. Seithamer, and Edward G. Sonnenberg.

Singles Tennis Match Scheduled Saturday

Neenah—The men's singles tennis tournament will be held at 1:15 Saturday afternoon at the high school courts. Ivan Williams, tennis instructor, announced this morning.

John Schmerien defeated Elmer Gollnow for the title last year and both boys will be entered in the meet this year. Entrants must live in the city of Neenah to be eligible.

Twin City Births

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Williams, 207 Whitlow street, Neenah, at Theda Clark Memorial hospital Thursday noon.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Hans Schmiedling, 399 Oak street, Menasha, at Theda Clark Memorial hospital last night.

Twin City Girls Return From Annual Y. W. Camp

Neenah—Neenah-Menasha girls, who spent the last two weeks at the Y. W. C. A. camp at Chain O' Lakes near Waupaca, returned to the Twin Cities at noon Thursday.

With Fran Webb as toastmistress, a final banquet was held Wednesday night at which awards were distributed and a farewell program was presented. Toasts were given to the life guard, counselors and Miss Gertrude Anderson, camp director, by Joan Hickey, Gertrude Krautkramer, Charlotte Heckrodt, Joan Taylor and Kathleen Owen.

Every girl in camp received an award for swimming and boating. Joan Graef passed her senior life saving test and six others passed junior tests. Awards were distributed by Miss Eleanor Newman.

List Prizes
Prizes for the best table decorations during the camp period went to tent No. 6 with Helen Stroebel as counselor. Others in the tent include Julianne Munten, Ann Mauthe, Dorothy Reimer, Dorothy Sauter and Margaret Stip.

The decoration theme was circus night. The inspection prize went to tent No. 2. The counselor was Ada Porath and members of the tent were Ruth Christiansen, Zita Ely, Lois Hanselman, June Larsen, Harriet Thurman.

The poetry contest prize went to Fran Webb, Grace Tippler, Margaret Webster, Dorothy Wiber, Mary Koppa, Joan Graef and Helen Plowright, counselor, all of tent No. 12. Rhymed couplets written about each girl in camp were read by Ada Porath at the banquet and some titles fitting the girls were presented by Helen Plowright.

Campfire Service
A campfire candlelight service conducted at the edge of the water was held following the banquet. Each girl sent a lighted candle floating on a bit of bark out into the lake in commemoration of a specific wish.

Camp was officially closed with the singing of "Follow the Glean" and "Taps" by the group. Activities during the week included trips to Crystal river and Beasley creek. A one-act play entitled, "Cinderella," was given by campers Tuesday. Members of the cast were Beryl Nelson, Joan Hickey, June Larsen, Betty Nelson, Mary Ann Eckrich, Kate Bunker and Phyllis Ruckert.

Twin City Sewage Disposal Plant Is Described in Talk

Engineer Tells How New Neenah-Menasha Plant Will Operate

Neenah—A history of sewage disposal plants, technical steps in the process itself, and a description of the new Twin City plant were the topics of a talk given by George C. Sullivan, resident engineer for the Greeley and Hansen company of Chicago, at a meeting of the Neenah Rotary club yesterday noon in Valley Inn.

The local plant now is ready for the flow of sewage, Sullivan said, and awaits the connection of sewers in the two cities before operations can begin.

"It is difficult to give you a clear picture of the technical aspects of the plant in a talk," Sullivan said. "I suggest that any of you who are interested come down and we will take you through the plant explaining the process step by step."

The contracting companies have spent $150,000 in wages in Neenah and Menasha since the project was started, the engineer stated, and before work is completed, that figure will have reached $200,000. The plant itself is costing $381,000 and the new sewers $466,000, a total of $947,000.

Organic Breakdown
Sewage has organic matter in suspension or solution, he explained, and also mineral substances. This organic matter is broken down in the presence of oxygen, there is no odor and the object of sewage treatment is to control this breakdown so that no obnoxious smells will be present.

The steps in the treatment of sewage in the new Twin City plant as described by Sullivan are as follows: (1) sewage flows through screen chamber; (2) grit then removed by settling in a chamber; (3) lime and chlorine is added; (4) sewage flows in flocculation tanks where it is agitated by air and paddles; (5) sewage poured into two large sedimentation tanks where the sludge is settled out and pumped into storage tanks; (6) remainder of sewage in fluid form goes out through 60-inch outfall sewer into river.

The sludge which remains in the sedimentation tanks and is pumped into digestion tanks is heated to aid digestion, placed on a belt, and conveyed to the incinerator where it is burned.

"Because of the paper mills, the sludge which will come from sewage here will be particularly difficult to handle," Sullivan said. "One of our storage tanks will be reserved for experimental purposes, because we will be facing new problems here."

Paper Mill Problem
So greatly do the paper mills affect the sewage problem in this vicinity, Sullivan said, that although there are only 100,000 people in the area from Lake Winnebago to Green Bay, the Fox river has a pollution portion comparable to that which would be found in a community of 1,000,000 people.

The system of seven miles of new intercepting sewers which has been installed in the Twin Cities makes it easy for mills to connect. These sewers, ranging in size from 12 to 36 inches, are completed now.

The Twin City plant is based on a population of 25,000 and has a capacity of 10,000,000 gallons per day. Two million of this is domestic, six million industrial, and two million is reserved for future expansion.

"We have built this plant so that it can be readily enlarged whenever it becomes necessary," the engineer said.

Sullivan pointed out that sewage treatment is a comparatively new process, stating that it did not reach a scientific level until 1890.

Plan Kite Flying Contest Next Week

For Youngsters

Neenah—A kite flying contest for children participating in the Neenah playground program will be conducted next week, Armin Gerhardt, director, announced this morning.

Boys at Washington, Columbia and Doty parks will spend the early part of the week making kites to enter in the contest. Most of the boys plan to build bow kites. Prizes will be awarded for the kite that flies the longest, the highest and the one which is put in the air in the shortest time.

Last year kites entered ranged in size from 10 feet across the bow to 3 inches. Much interest in the contest is apparent as entrants have started kite construction this week. The contest is expected to be one of the highlights of the play program.

Report Two Minor Thefts at Neenah

Thieves Steal Cake, Table Cloth and Lumber From Homes

Neenah—A table cloth and a cake were stolen when thieves entered the home of George Strej, 510 Reed street, Neenah, last night, according to police.

Strej and his family had left their residence and upon returning found the front door unlocked. Investigation revealed that the cake and tablecloth were the only items missing. Police believe that the thieves were either hoboes or a group of boys.

Twenty-nine pieces of lumber were stolen last night from the site of a new home being built by George Mueller at 684 Congress street, police reported. No clues were left as the theft occurred during the night and was only noticed this morning.

Menasha High School Band Gives Concert

Menasha—The Menasha High school band, fresh from a successful appearance at the Lions International convention in Chicago, presented its second concert of the summer and the fourth in the series last night on city square.

Under the direction of L. E. Kraft, the band played a program of 12 numbers, featuring Margaret Schommer, soloist, and a clarinet trio made up of J. Homan, A. Zielinski, and K. Strader.

The St. Mary High school band played on the St. Norbert college campus at DePere last night and its music was broadcast over the Green Bay radio station. Students at summer school at the college comprised the band's audience.

Ask Council to Adopt New Building Statute

Menasha—The city council at its meeting next Tuesday night will consider a recommendation from the planning commission that a new ordinance covering building, heating, ventilating, plumbing, and the erection of signs in the city be adopted.

The ordinance as suggested by the commission at a meeting last week would contain definite specifications applying to new buildings and would affect dwellings. The city has no such ordinance at the present time.

Included in the report of the commission will be a recommendation that a building inspector be employed to enforce this ordinance. Fire Chief Paul Theimer is the present building inspector.

Watchman Struck Down By Hit-and-Run Driver

Neenah—Ronald Larson, 336 S. Park avenue, narrowly escaped serious injury about 12 o'clock last night when he was struck down by a hit-and-run driver while patrolling on new Highway 41 where he is employed as a watchman by the Bloomer Construction company.

Larson was making the rounds on a bicycle when an automobile crashed through the snow fence barricade, struck the bicycle and dragged him several hundred feet. It was reported to police.

He was unconscious for several hours and when he recovered he reported to police and was taken to the Theda Clark Memorial hospital. He was bruised about the head and side of his body.

TAKES OVER STATION

Neenah—Jerome Hauser, High street, Neenah, Thursday took over the Standard Oil filling station at the intersection of N. Commercial street and Nicolet boulevard. The station was formerly operated by Charles Tessendorf.

SPEEDER FINED

Menasha—Francis Toy, Appleton, was fined $5 and costs by Judge Arthur Ales in justice court this morning for speeding. He was arrested at Frank Road Thursday night where, according to police reports, he was driving 45 miles an hour.

Start Second Round of Yacht Racing This Weekend

Betty Neff Wins First Place in Sailboat Regatta

Neenah—Entering the miniature sailboat regatta yesterday as a darkhorse, Betty Neff came through to win first place in the second leg of the round robin meet.

All other entrants in the meet are boys and although Betty is only a mere girl—in the collective opinions of the boy skippers—her boat has a chance, in the event of a first place today, to win the regatta.

Jack Renner's boat was second Thursday and Don Staffeld finished in third position. Staffeld's boat finished first and second Wednesday with Richard Larsen's boat in third place. The regatta title is being decided this afternoon at Doty park.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Generally fair tonight and Saturday, except possibly scattered showers extreme west portion Saturday afternoon; somewhat warmer north central portion Saturday.

GENERAL WEATHER

Showers have occurred since yesterday morning over the St. Lawrence valley and over the central plains states and central Rocky mountains, with heavy rain falling at Omaha, Neb., but fair weather is general this morning over all the north central states.

Moderate temperatures still prevail this morning over all the central states, northern plains and northern Rocky mountains, but maxima near or above 80 degrees occurred yesterday at many stations in the central and southern plains states and central Rocky mountains.

Charge Firm Violated Ordinance on Smoke

Menasha—Charged by the city with violating the ordinance prohibiting excessive smoke and soot in the city, the Wisconsin Tissue Mills was given an adjournment until Thursday, Aug. 12, by Judge Arthur Ales in justice court yesterday.

Following complaints of residents living in the vicinity of the mill, the city council requested the company to abate the alleged nuisance. At the last meeting, the council authorized City Attorney Edward McKenzie to take legal steps if this wasn't done immediately.

INSTALL SEWERS

Menasha—Workmen have started the installation of new sewers in the 200 block on Nicolet boulevard. When this portion of the system is completed, the work will be extended to Naymut street. The council recently appropriated $1,544 as the city's 55 per cent share in the Naymut street project which will cost $2,800.

INSTALL SIDEWALKS

Neenah—Installation of sidewalk on E. Forest avenue between First and Second street was completed Thursday. The sidewalk on Second street between Lincoln street and E. First avenue was also replaced. Arthur Sawyer is in charge of the work.

WORKER INJURED

Neenah—Clarence Rankin, 1102 W. Spring street, Appleton, suffered a back injury when he lifted a beam while working on the Koopke Construction company project yesterday. He was taken to Theda Clark Memorial hospital for examination and was released today.

Labor Controls Value of Rails, Babson Claims

Points Out Stocks of Carriers Are No Higher Than Year Ago

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Babson Park, Mass. — The railroads and the utilities—the nation's two largest industries—are in the "doghouse." Despite huge gains in their volume of business and the Senate's Supreme Court action, rail stocks are no higher than a year ago, while utility equities are considerably cheaper. In one case business is above the 1931 level and in the other instance it is at an all-time peak. Lower rates, higher taxes, heavier labor charges, and political badgering have offset much of the gain in volume and kept down the price of power and railroad securities.

Several weeks ago I discussed utility stocks and advised holding them for higher prices. Today I want to analyze the position of the business enterprise in the entire world. Just as in the case of utilities, the rails are suffering not from bad business but from bad sentiment. Railroad security owners own more than public utility stockholders—the "forgotten" investors of today. The only difference is that while power stockholders are being squeezed by politicians, carrier investors are being milked by labor.

Everyone Has Stake
The railroad trouble has its roots, as the utility squabble has, in mismanagement in the past by bankers and lawyers. The industry had to be regulated to give the public a "square deal." As usual the pendulum swung too far and investors got a "raw deal." Yet, if all interested groups would now pull together most of the roads could be saved. "All interested groups" includes not only rail investors, but also insurance policyholders, savings bank depositors, and college students. Coal miners, steel workers, and lumber-jacks as well as employees of the carriers are all affected. Retail merchants, housewives, and motorists have a big stake in the railroads.

This industry is a vital artery in our economic life. A bankrupt railroad system could easily mean a bankrupt nation. That is why every reader should have a strong interest in seeing that the railroads get fair play. Public control of industry by a democracy can never be successful unless the voters are willing to study the issues. The rails today are worried by the two major problems confronting the utilities, i. e., rising taxes and fixed rates for their services. But in addition, the carriers are saddled by the additional burden of a tremendous labor problem.

Four Black Marks
Perhaps a brief summary of the pros and cons of the rail outlook will help readers. On the "anti" side are:

1. Powerful labor demands
2. Rising tax burdens
3. Straight-jacket of regulation
4. Eventual peak of traffic

The labor angle at the moment is giving the industry the biggest headache. Workers are now asking for a 20 per cent wage increase which would put the rail pay scale nearly 30 per cent above the 1929 level. Such an advance could throw the entire industry back into red ink with a loss of $300,000,000 or more. Had these wage rates been in effect last year, only thirteen carriers would have operated at a profit. However, no one expects more than a 10 per cent boost—with a compromise at 5 per cent possible.

Taxes, of course, are another of the rails' major burdens. In 1920, 4.4 cents out of every rail dollar went directly for taxes. Last year the government gobbled up 8 cents with no end of the increase in sight. At the same time, carriers are not free to jump their rates nor to make ordinary operating economies to help offset this tremendous jacking-up of their labor and tax bills. The railroads are hog-tied by a mass of useless and unfair regulations.

Traffic Outlook
For long-haul investors the report of the National Resources Committee is discouraging. They forecast that there will be no substantial gain for 20 to 25 years after the 1929 level of traffic is reached. This means that once the carriers have eased their way back to their 1929 traffic level their only ill-gotten native in offsetting fatter payrolls and outrageous tax bills is to reduce their number of employees and/or charge much more for handling freight. If granted by the ICC, rate increases would make the carriers more vulnerable to truck, bus, and barge competition. There are, however, some "pros" in the picture. They are: 1. Amazing recovery in traffic; 2. Less severe competition; 3. New spirit of management; 4. Possibility of better rates.

Among these, the current traffic recovery is most important. Gross revenues in 1936 were $4,033,000,000. The 1937 figure promises to be in the neighborhood of $4,500,000,000. In 1929 the roads took in $6,279,000,000. The highest level of industrial output since 1929 and the best crops in years indicate that freight movement this October may top $90,000 cars weekly. Such a figure would be within 25 per cent of the 1929 level of loadings. This is the most optimistic factor in the picture today.

Watch Rates And Labor
Federal and state motor carrier laws are now helping the roads to battle their competition. The new progressive spirit of managements is another strong asset. Modern rolling stock, faster schedules, and better service are helping to coax back lost traffic. Furthermore, most of the new equipment is so much more efficient than the old that operating economies go a long way toward paying the bills for the new rolling stock. Finally, there is the strong possibility that the ICC will order some freight rate increase especially if rail labor gets its higher pay. Truck and ship competition would not benefit from these rate increases because the carriers are asking for advances only on the most non-competitive type of freight.

THEY WON CHAMPIONSHIPS IN BEANBAG TOURNAMENTS

Right now the focal point for all railroad stockholders is the labor situation. If the carriers are now treated fairly as to wages, you are justified in holding your rail stocks. But, like most of the utility holding company stocks, dump them some time during this bull market. I do not believe in buying or holding, indefinitely, stocks in publicly-controlled industries!

FINED FOR SPEEDING
Henry Kober, 26 Sherman place, pleaded guilty of speeding when he appeared in the municipal court of Judge Thomas H. Ryan this morning and paid a fine of $10 and costs. He was arrested at 3:30 Thursday afternoon and charged with driving 35 miles an hour on W. Wisconsin avenue.

Wheat was sown in the Jamestown colony, Virginia, as early as 1611.

Ford in Splendid Condition On Seventy-Fourth Birthday

Detroit — (AP)—Henry Ford is 74 years old today. Seemingly in the best of physical condition, he looks 60 and belies his years by still indulging in such exercise as bicycling and running.

Ford, who was nearly 40 years old when he organized the present Ford Motor company, has no intention of retiring. He surrendered the presidency of the company to his son, Edsel, more than a decade ago, but he continues the guiding spirit. As usual, there was no birthday celebration for Ford today. It differed from other birthday anniversaries chiefly in the fact that it found him in his home office rather than at his lodge in the Huron mountains on the upper Michigan shore of Lake Superior.

Ford attributes his splendid physical condition to the fact that he "keeps active and interested in things."

Somebody asked the manufacturer if he wanted to live as long as John D. Rockefeller. "I was asked that question not long ago," he replied, "and I replied that I want to be around as long as I am useful."

Ford's plants at present are shut down for the annual inventory. He plans to reopen them on Aug. 9 and put assembly lines on a production schedule of 6,000 cars a day. Thus, barring labor interruptions, the volume of output for the current calendar year will run well above the million unit mark. To date output has totaled approximately 870,000 cars and trucks.

Ford has not explained why he decided against spending his birthday at Huron mountain as has been his habit for years. Some persons close to him ventured the opinion it was because of the fight he is making against the United Automobile Workers of America which seeks to unionize his 150,000 workers.

"He wants to be right here where things are likely to happen," said one of his associates.

Realty Transfers

The following real estate transfers were filed today at the office of A. L. Collar, Outagamie county register of deeds:

Albert Kolpack to Cecil E. Burgess, part of a lot in the Sixth ward, Appleton.

Cecil E. Burgess to Edna Wendt et al, a lot in the Second ward, Appleton.

NOW WINDSOR STREET

Evanston, Ill.—(AP)—Residents on the three-block stretch called Simpson street petitioned city councilmen to change the name of their thoroughfare to Windsor street "just because."

When the council got the petition the mayor could not restore order for five minutes. Some of the petitioners told the council the Duke and Duchess of Windsor romance gave them the idea. They thought the new name would attract people. Others thought it "nonsense" and "foolish" but the council ordered a resolution drawn changing the name.

Small brushes—such as discarded tooth brushes—are handy for polishing and cleaning shoes and for applying silver polish or cleaning powders to brass and other metal ornaments. The bristles on a small brush will penetrate grooves and corners which are nearly impossible to reach in any other way.

FLAME TRAIL

Seth and the boys back from the range? Was anyone there to fight the fire?

She could see red forks of flame now through the smoke and suddenly, a new column of smoke rose, some little distance to the left. "The barn!" Kay gasped. "Oh, God, not the barn, too!"

Coherent thought left her as she strained every nerve to reach the scene of disaster. Another 10 minutes, and she could feel the heat from the glowing conflagration ahead. Ducking her head, she forced her way on, and the next thing she knew, she was pounding through the gate.

Pulling Flicker back on his haunches, as Seth rushed toward her, Kay half fell out of the saddle into his arms.

Bracing herself against him, she faced the blazing ruin of her home. Nothing to be done about it now; that was clear. The boys had left it and the barn to their fate, and were concentrating their efforts on trying to save the bunk house, beating out the flying sparks, as they fell on the roof and porch.

The insurance papers. "How did it happen, Seth?" Kay hardly recognized her strained voice, as she raised it above the roar and crackle of the flames. "God knows," Seth answered, brokenly. "It was Chung Lee's afternoon off, so the house was empty, and all the outfit was on the range. I just got back in time to save the Old Man's desk, and a few things out of the living room."

He pointed with a smudged, blackened finger to a small pile of furniture that Kay had failed to notice before. The sight of the desk galvanized her to sudden action, and she ran over to it, pulling Seth with her.

"Thank Heaven, you saved that, Seth," she gasped. "All Dad's records are there, and the insurance papers with them."

"Thank God you're insured!" Seth's face, smeared with black, and with one bushy eyebrow half singed off, was comical in its relief. "I couldn't recollect whether you'd renewed it or not."

Finish Digging Sewers On North Side of Marion

Marion—The Green and Son Construction company has finished digging the sewer on north side and is now working on the south side of town.

The band gave a concert Tuesday evening at the park. Mr. Fatt, band instructor of the Manawa schools is directing the band during the absence of Mr. Schlomowitz.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Rogers arrived here Monday evening from Jamestown, N. D., and are camping in their "Dakota Home" on Pine lake. They have as their guests, friends from Chicago and Jamestown.

Miss Violet Trochlow of Manitowish is a house guest at the Loyd Fox home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Devaud and son, John, and Miss Marjory Gates of Tigerton attended the Isaac Stevens reunion which was held at the Jim O'Donnell farm home near Manawa on Sunday. The reunion is an annual affair and Sunday there were 69 persons present. The Men's club of St. John's Lutheran church met in the church parlors Tuesday evening.

Quits Position After 25 Years

Joseph Klassen Retires as Lumber Company Manager at Sherwood

Sherwood — Joseph Klassen, 58, manager of the Sherwood Lumber Co. for the last 25 years and local business man for 35 years, recently tendered his resignation as manager, effective Aug. 1.

Mr. Klassen began work for the Sherwood Elevator, formerly located on the present site of the lumber company, in July, 1902, where he worked for the Wisconsin Mill and Grain company of Appleton for 10 years. After resigning, in company with George Casper and H. L. Meyer, Hilbert, he bought out the Sternhagen Lumber company of here and organized the Sherwood Lumber company. After 10 years the yard was sold to the Barber Lumber and Fuel company of Green Bay for whom he worked for three years. Then the yard was sold to the Heath Lumber and Fuel company of Brillion, and with this company he worked for the last 12 years.

During his 25 years of service Mr. Klassen daily walked a half mile to his office. He says he made 17,000 daily round trips totaling 17,000 miles. The vacancy will be filled by Elmer Spang, who was recently appointed to the position.

NIGHT TRAFFIC HAZARD
San Francisco — (U) — Increasing traffic fatalities among pedestrians at night are revealed by traffic accident surveys collected by the California State Auto association. One study gave the night pedestrian hazard as 63 per cent greater than the daytime. The survey showed that of traffic deaths involving pedestrians over 50 years old, 82 per cent occurred in dusk or darkness.

Truckers Blank Kaws 1 to 0 in Return Game

Defeat by Brews
Is Avenged When
Palmer Brings WinTruckers' Short Stop
Brings in Lone Tally
In Sixth Inning

BY KUTZ DERUS
LINTONVILLE—Vengeance is sweet the FWD Truckers discovered here last night as they pounced upon the Electric City Brewers and eked a 1 to 0 victory over the Kaukauna squad in a close game. A week ago, Kaukauna nosed out the FWD nine, and last night's tilt was a return meeting.

Kaukauna was amply repaid for taking a 4 to 3 decision in an extra-inning non-league contest at Kaukauna last week, as the Truckers proceeded to convert the lone score after the first man up in the sixth inning singled. The runner advanced on a hit that was meant to be a sacrifice and scored on a sacrifice bunt.

It was a nip and tuck battle for the two pitchers, Brokop of Kaukauna and Tomlin of the home squad. However, Tomlin got the better of the fray with his 10 strikeouts and 2 walks besides holding the hard-hitting Kaws to only 4 scattered hits. Brokop also allowed four hits, but these were bunched in the sixth. He fanned eight batters.

Muffs Chance to Score
Kaukauna had a chance to score in the first inning after Bowers grounded out and Vils hit a triple into right field. Kappell, the next man up, went out on a slow roller and Rader fanned to end the threat. Zelinske showed well with the club for the Kaukauna nine, getting two hits in three times at bat.

The Brewers had men on the bags in every inning except the third, sixth and eighth frames. Another Kaws chance to score was foiled in the fourth inning. Eggert was caught trying to come home on Zelinske's double but was tagged at the plate.

Two other opportunities to score also fizzled for the Kaws. Peck, who was walked, advanced twice but was left on base after a Kaws player struck out with two down. The last Kaukauna chance to score came in the final inning when Kappell went out on a grounder and Rader came up and slammed out a single. Rader was caught in a double play. Gretzinger to Palmer to Schmidtke when Eggert hit a slow roller into the short stop position.

Tomlin in Fine Form
Tomlin was invincible on the mound for the Truckers, having things practically his own way most of the game. He was given fine support and knuckled down in the pinches to stop all threats. Brokop also hurled good ball, but was the victim of a bad break in the sixth inning.

The tally came in the sixth when Palmer hit a single to start the inning. Gehrt attempted to bunt on the first ball and got the infielders wary. When the bunt came, however, players never expected it would roll as it did. The ball skinned between the incoming pitcher and first baseman, going for a hit. The second baseman had started for the initial hazzock to back up the first baseman in case he picked up the grounder. The pitcher also started to assist on the play, but the ball rolled wild and passed through the infield without interruption.

Try to Field Bunt
As pitcher and first baseman ran up to field the bunt, the second baseman started to protect the initial sack. The ball rolled swiftly between the three players going into short field and Palmer went home without being played on.

Umpire Manser took a verbal beating from the noisy crowd and nearly figured in a riot when Zelinske protested against a decision on a strike. Peck also became involved in the argument and soon the three were pushing each other around the plate. The two team managers came in and quieted the disturbance.

Little Chute will invade Kaukauna's hallowed field next Sunday night and on Wednesday, Kaukauna takes on the Sheboygan Champs of the State league in a night game. Carvenough, the Kaws' regular hurler, is expected to work against the Champs and Manager Boozie Bowers expects to secure another hurler from one of the other Northern State teams.

Knapstein Brews Rally in
9th to Beat Green Bay, 7-6

NEW LONDON—Timely hitting by the Knapstein Brews and a bit of loose play by the Green Bay battery in the last half of the ninth inning put an exciting 7 to 6 victory in the hands of the New London team as they entered the Thomas Drugs of the Bay city in a non-league game under the lights here last night.

Out to defend a 6 to 4 lead at the last of the ninth the Green Bay aggregation went about as the Brews hit hard the catcher allowed two passed balls, the shortstop missed a grounder and the pitcher topped it off with a wild throw to let three New London men score on two hits and take the ball game. The Green Bay team plays in the Northern Valley league.

Up against the 6 to 4 disadvantage at the last of the ninth, Arnie Kelley, who had 16 strikeouts in his first game for the Brews fanned Palmer singled and stole second, Demming grounded past short as Palmer went to third and Palmer scored on a pass ball. Demming stole second as Westphal took the count of three. With two down, Tip Krohn smacked a double against the right field fence to score Demming and tie the game at 6-all. While McClone was drawing a walk, Krohn advanced to third on another passed ball and when VanDanson heaved a wild one past Orin Krohn, at the plate, Tip raced in for the kill.

Hits Home Run
Radelet, starting Bay pitcher, drew applause when he bounced Kelley's first-inning offering clear off the center field fence and trotted the circuit. The ump's called it a 2-base hit until the protests of the visiting team and general opinion of the crowd favored a home-run ruling. Radelet whiffed three New London men in two innings and promised to show plenty on the ball when VanDanson substituted to allow nine hits and four walks, strike out three. Kelley walked five.

MOOSE added its 10th win of the season last night at the expense of the K. of C. club, piling up a 9 to 0 Fraternal league win at the Wilson school field. Faulk, on the mound for the Moose squad, allowed only three hits and struck out fourteen batters. He also gave up two walks.

Van Den Boom, Knights' hurler, was not as fortunate, yielding 11 hits, striking out 5 and walking 1. Moose scored three runs in the fourth on two hits, a walk and an error, four runs in the fifth on five hits. The fifth was featured by a circuit clout by Faulk. The last two runs came in the ninth when Bray hit a round trip with a man on base. Weber got a double for the other extra base hit.

Coolerators Taken Into Camp by Telulah Squad

Telulah Mill softball team defeated the Lutz Coolerators 5 to 4 last night at the McKinley school diamond when Sonnelkneiter of Telulah and Doerflinger of the Coolerators hooked up in a pitching duel. Sonnelkneiter and Sonnelkneiter formed the winning battery, with Doerflinger and Hial working for the Coolerators. Children of the Lutz team was the bat star getting a triple, two doubles and a single in four trips to the plate. Coolerators will meet the Fourth Ward Rams in a double header Sunday afternoon at the Wilson school diamond. Doerflinger and Blik will form the Lutz battery and Werner and Hopfinger are expected to toil for the Rams.

Sailboats to Race in 100-Mile Event at Bay

Menominee—More than 10 sailboats from Milwaukee, Fond du Lac, Manitowish, Sheboygan, Green Bay, Escanaba, Marinette and Menominee were expected today by M. and M. Yacht club officials to enter the first annual 100-mile sailing race in Green Bay.

The race will begin at the Menominee Yacht basin tomorrow morning and finish at the same point sometime Sunday. The course leads to the gas and bell buoy at the northwest shoal of Chambers island, south to Sturgeon Bay, where the boats will round government light No. 24, then west around Green island, around the spar buoy on the north end of Chambers island and back to Menominee.

The winner will be declared on corrected time rather than elapsed time.

A traveling silver trophy has been offered by E. P. Smith, of Menominee, for the winner. Additional prizes have been offered by businessmen.

WOOLEN Mills walloped the Coated Paper crew, 11-3, in an American league game at Roosevelt school diamond last evening. O. Lorenz pitched 5-hit ball for the winners while fanning 2 and walking 2 and I. Williams allowed 11 hits while whiffing 1 batter and passing 8.

Woolens led off with three runs in the first inning to one score for the Coateds and scored in every inning except the sixth and the eighth. The losers pulled in two runs in the ninth frame. H. Crowe was credited with a triple and N. Pope hit two double base hits while E. Dunsinn and R. Crane had one apiece.

The three postponed Post-Tuttle versus Atlas game will be played this evening at Roosevelt school field. The match was postponed as a result of the illness of Eddie Mitchell, star Post-Tuttle hurler, and is expected to have a definite bearing on final league standings.

Cleveland Rams Open
Grid Practices Today

Cleveland—The Cleveland Rams pulled the ancient "sleeper play" today and ordered opening practices Monday—Three full weeks ahead of their National Football league rivals. Hoping to catch other clubs napping, Manager Buzz Wetzel summoned a squad of 45 men to work out in temperatures more appropriate for swimming.

"We're in the suicide division—the one with all the champions and we're playing a home and home series with each," declared Wetzel, erstwhile Ohio State university fullback, who'll watch his new club from the sidelines.

"If the Green Bay Packers don't kill us two Sundays in a row we might have a team at the end of the season," he said. "At any rate, it'll be a fighting club."

KAUKAUNA—With the Northern Valley league lead at stake the Oshkosh 8500 Cab nine and Neenah Merchants will clash in the feature game Sunday at Washington park, Neenah. Sunday's game should be a battle all the way as both clubs are anxious to represent the league in the state tournament at Milwaukee late this month. An Oshkosh win over Neenah and a double win for Green Bay over the Menasha Eagles Sunday will throw the race into a 3-way tie. This possibility will make the Northern Valley race a dog fight up to tournament time as Green Bay also have their eyes peeled on getting the chance to play in the state meet.

A close game is looked for Sunday with Orville Schultz slated to take the mound for Neenah with Lefty Jerome in reserve. Schultz held Menasha to six hits last week to defeat "Buster" Brown of the Eagles in a mound duel with Neenah coming out on top 5 to 2. Oshkosh will pitch either Alwin or Klobier in their attempt to regain the league lead they held all season until last Sunday. The Sawdust City nine have been losing some tough battles the last few weeks and are due to get going again.

Green Bay Thomas Drugs and the Menasha Eagles twin bill at the Bay should furnish plenty of action. The Drugs have a possible chance to tie for the league lead and boast a fine record on their home diamond. Alden Vandenberg and Louis Radelet will get the pitching assignments for the Drugs while "Buster" Brown and Beach will toe the mound for the Menasha Eagles.

Grand Chute and Appleton will meet at Appleton in the other league game. The near city rivals will be battling to keep out of the cellar and a tough fight is in prospect.

when these two clubs meet, a personnel of both clubs hail mostly from Appleton.

Allison Is Left
Fatigued After
Gruelling MatchFormer U. S. Tennis Singles Champ Tuckered
From Fast Competition

SEA BRIGHT, N. J.—If Wilmer Allison's battered body can stand the strain of one more match, the former U. S. Tennis singles champion may return to Texas with the Sea Bright bowl added to his string of comeback conquests.

Allison literally dragged himself into the locker room after defeating Frank X. Shields, the former Davis Cup star of Hollywood, Calif., yesterday in the semi-finals of the 50th annual invitation tournament. To Allison's already aching right arm and weakened right knee was added the handicap of a strained back ligament, the result of a spill in the last game of the gruelling five-set struggle with Shields.

In deference to the 33-year-old veteran's physical condition, the tournament committee postponed the men's singles final until tomorrow afternoon, but there was some doubt whether Allison would profit much by the delay. Allison's opponent in the title round will be youthful Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles, who yesterday eliminated Jiro Yamagishi, Japanese national champion, in another marathon semi-final, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3.

Allison's greater tournament experience and superior net play enabled him to topple Shields, but only after a bitter duel, 1-6, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Today's feature match pitted blonde Alice Marble of Los Angeles against her European nemesis, Polish Madwiga Jedzejowska, stonky net queen, in the final of the women's singles.

Defending Golf Champ Loses Out In Amateur Meet

Smallest Player Causes Biggest Upset in State Tourney

MADISON—(AP)—Four 22-year-old golf stars started play in the semi-final round of the Wisconsin Amateur tournament on the Maple Bluff course today.

Wilford Wehrle, Racine, met Lynford Lardner, Oconomowoc, in the first and Willie Thomson, Racine, matched strokes with John Gerdis, Waukesha, in the second of the 36-hole matches.

The defending champion, George Johnson, Jr., Oconomowoc, lost his title yesterday. Jerry Frost, Kenosha, the smallest player in the tournament, beat him, 2 and 1, in the biggest upset of the day.

Wehrle, medalist of the meet, continued his drive toward the championship by defeating Frost, 5 up and 3 to play, in the quarter-finals. The blizzard sun was too much for the small Kenosha ace, but Wehrle came through with a brilliant 68 for the 18 holes. He ended his fine exhibition with a 25-yard chip that dropped into the cup for an eagle two on the last hole. The try was unnecessary, however, as he had won the match on the 15th hole.

Gets Record 66 The amateur course record was smashed by Lardner in the morning round. After a par first nine, Lardner drove home a low 31 on the incoming nine for a 66 total. The former amateur record was 67, set by Wehrle and Frost in the present tourney.

Willie Thomson, after pushing Bruce Rogers out of the picture in the quarter-finals, came back and eliminated Randall Schuman, Madison, 3 and 2.

Another surprise victory was that of John Gerdin over the 1934 titlist, Dick Ashley, Kenosha, to the tune of 1 up. This is the Waukesha player's initial try at the state title. He had the former crown holder two down on the first nine, getting birdies on the eighth and ninth holes.

The semi's in the senior and junior tourney as well as the trophy fights go on immediately after the champion bracket concludes play.

E. W. Miller, Milwaukee, faces John J. Staub, Waukesha, and Joe Wilkes, Madison, battles Henry A. Meyer, Milwaukee, in the senior event.

In the junior play a pair of Milwaukeeans, Leslie Rasansky and Don Baird, were paired in the opening match. John Erickson, La Crosse, meets Bob Gallett, Milwaukee, in the other test.

Post Favorites for Last Races at Chicago Track

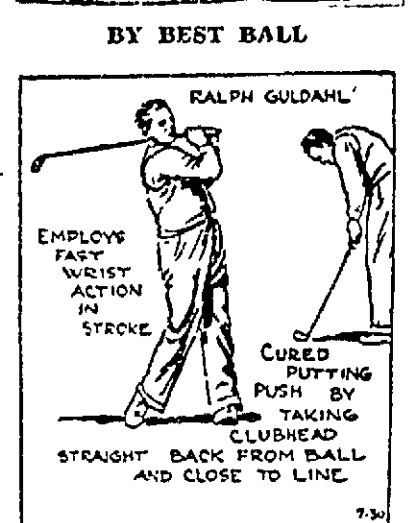

Chicago—(AP)—Horsemen will find two big pots of gold at the end of Arlington Park's "Golden Rainbow" tomorrow.

The $50,000 Arlington Handicap will feature the closing day of the horse racing plant's 30-day meeting, and the two stakes are expected to draw upwars of 40,000 spectators.

An even dozen two year olds—the best from the east and the west—are expected to fight it out in the Futurity over six furlongs. A week ago the race seemed at the mercy of three colts representing Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Milky Way farm stable—Sky Larking, Tiger and C. Note. But in final drills, Warren Wright's Bul Lea has been particularly impressive. For the east, Perpetua is expected to make a strong bid.

M. L. Emerick's Infantry probably will go to the post favorite in the Handicap, to be run immediately after the Futurity.

AN AID TO ACCURACY

Pounding nails in his younger days gave Ralph Guldahl an eye for accurate impact and strong, supple wrists to make that impact a powerful one when the occasion demanded. Like Jimmy Thomson, much of Guldahl's distance comes from fast wrist action. Both men, however, have strong, powerful physiques which play a little part in covering yardage. Walter Travis used to advise golfers to imagine they were driving a tack into the golf ball on putts and certainly the idea of hitting a small object of this kind has its reflection in more accuracy. Apparently smacking a nail into piece of pine has done much to improve Guldahl's precision, which might encourage a lot of carpenters to turn golfers when their trade is slack. However this training is better for the power and trouble shots than it is for the more delicate putt as Guldahl discovered. In fact it wasn't until he changed to a finger grip that his putting improved. Formerly he was pushing the putt to the right of cup, Guldahl found that by employing a finger grip, plus a reasonable degree of caution in taking the clubhead back straight from the ball and close to the ground, that it could be dispatched accurately. One of the commonest faults is taking the putter head back outside of the line to the hole.

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Neopit at Manawa.
Clintonville at New London.
Shawano at Marion.
Weyauwega at Waupaca.

Manawa—With five teams tied for the lead in the Wolf Valley league, the second half race will partially unscramble itself Sunday. Aug. 1, when games are scheduled between the top ranking teams. The feature battle will be the argument between Clintonville and New London at the latter city. Another bit of baseball warfare will be enacted when Weyauwega travels to Waupaca. Shawano plays at Marion and Neopit will invade Manawa.

Probably the wildest game in the history of the Wolf Valley league was played at Waupaca last Sunday when Waupaca defeated Menawa 24 to 11 after trailing going into the sixth inning by an 11 to 4 score. Big counts were the order of the day. New London won from Neopit 10 to 4. Clintonville defeated Shawano 10 to 3, and Weyauwega ran wild over Marion 10 to 1.

Hornby Cracks Homer In 1st Semi-Pro Game

Denver—Rogers Hornby, broke into semi-pro baseball last night with a mighty homerun over the right field fence his first time at bat.

The Eagle team, Denver Bay Refiners, crushed the Worland, Wyo. entry 25 to 0.

After mashing the plate, Hornby gained wisdom. That's a real way to break a "10" day.

The homer was his only hit of the night, however.

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Grangers at Merchants.
Shiocton at Black Creek.
Date at Hortonville.

GREENVILLE—The Greenville Merchants-Greenville Grange clash here Sunday in the headline tilt in the Outagamie County Baseball league this week. Both teams are tied for a second place and have an opportunity to tie for the lead post if they can win Sunday's tilt.

Shiocton travels to Black Creek to meet the undefeated league leaders. The Shiocton squad came to life last week in winning its first game by a 1-run margin over the Merchants and expect to go to town for the rest of the second half of the league schedule. A Shiocton victory would throw the league race wide open and leave teams scrambling for bids into the first division.

In the other game Dale treks to Hortonville in what appears to be an easy Dale victory. The Dale nine is strong but will encounter plenty of opposition in its invasion of Hortonville.

Kuzinski and C. Reimer are expected to form the Grangers battery, while the Burton brothers, Cliff and Cy, will share the heavy duties for the Merchants. Shiocton's battery will include S. Lathrop and Omholt and Black Creek and Dale will use their regular batteries.

Yanks Defeat Tigers, 11 to 10 at Kimberly

Kimberly—The Yanks junior softball team defeated the Tigers, 11-10, at the ball park Thursday afternoon. The two teams put up a hard fight and at no time during the game did the winners have more than a 1-run lead. J. Van Cuyk, twirler for the Yanks, allowed 14 hits and walked 2.

Pieweger pitching for the Tigers allowed the Yanks 16 hits and walked three. In three times up to the plate, Pieweger scored three runs, including a home run.

Grishabers' Specials won a 3-game series Wednesday and Thursday from Swamp and Kuglers at the Interlake park by scores of 16 to 2, 9 to 8 and 28 to 10. The winning battery was composed of Dan Grishaber and Art Roehl and G. Swamp, Bud Horn and Howie Horn worked for the losers.

Vanderbilt Won't Enter Ranger in Today's Race

Newport, R. I. (AP)—Shortly before starting time Harold S. Vanderbilt decided not to enter Ranger, the sloop he will take against T. O. M. Sopwith's second British Challenger Endeavor II tomorrow, in today's concluding race of the Eastern Yacht club cruise.

Vanderbilt's change in plans, however, did not mean shore leave or rest for his racing crew, for instead he put Ranger under canvas to try out some new sails.

Cubs or Giants Due for Fall in Weekend Schedule

National League Leaders Open Private Battle Today in Chicago

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
EITHER the Chicago Cubs or the New York Giants are all built up for another awful let down this weekend.

Beginning today in Chicago, they open the second act of their private battle for the National league lead. And from this second straight weekend series should come a fairly definite line on which of the two outfits will finish with the flag.

No other outfit appears to have any intention of challenging these two. The Cubs, at the moment, have a three-game lead on the Giants.

the strong Embarrass team, while the Embarrass squad can throw the league race wide open by turning back the league leaders.

Competition in the league is the keenest in years, with margins of half games between at least five of the clubs in the circuit.

Raddant is expected to be on the mound when the Embarrass squad invades the Symco diamond and if he can repeat his 6-hit pitching performance of last week, the invasion is going to net the Embarrass boys a piece of the lead post.

Marion, a game out of first, travels to Bear Creek in its pennant chase with a chance to keep in striking distance. Clintonville is expected to have little trouble adding another win at the expense of the Maple Valley nine.

The rest of the loop is strung out seven games and more behind.

Last week, the Cubs took two out of three from the Giants in New York.

Perhaps they thought it was all in fun yesterday as each made ready for the other by dropping their starts. The Cubs were given a thorough going over by Fred Frankhouse and the Brooklyn Dodgers and wound up on the short end of a 10-2 count. The Giants were handcuffed by Lefty Bob Weiland and lost a 5-2 decision to the Cardinals.

The New York Yankees wound up their series with the Detroit Tigers yesterday by taking a 7-6 close one on Bill Dickey's homer with two out and two strikes on him in the ninth inning.

The defeat dropped the Tigers back into third place in the American league, and made room for the Chicago White Sox to climb back into second by nipping the Washington Senators 2-0 on Thornton Lee's left-handed pitching performance.

The Cincinnati Reds were muffed with four hits by Jim Turner and were nosed out by the Boston Bees 2-1 to fall back into a tie for sixth place with Brooklyn. Dolph Camilli's homer with the bases loaded gave the Philadelphia Phillies an 11-7 win over Pittsburgh.

Jimmy Foss hammered homer No. 26 and the Boston Red Sox socked the St. Louis Browns 5-3. The Philadelphia Athletics' fielding fiasco in the ninth inning, and handed the Cleveland Indians a 5-4 victory.

The world carryover of American cotton was reduced from 13,000,000 to 7,000,000 bales between 1932 and 1936.

State Swimmers to Seek Titles in Outdoor Meet

West Bend—(AP)—Sixteen titles will be at stake when state swimmers compete here Saturday and Sunday in the Wisconsin AAU outdoor swimming championships.

Competition will include mens' and women's events.

Frank Bingham, committee chairman in charge of the meet, said 50 entries had already been received.

Cooper Feared by Tourney Golfers

Defending Champion Is Ranking Favorite to Cop at St. Paul

St. Paul—(AP)—The nation's kingpins of golf swung today along a familiar and profitable trail over the Keller course's 72-par rugged terrain in quest of a share of $5,000 posted as a reward for demonstrating their ability to the public.

Eighteen of the seventy-two holes of play to select the champion of the eighth annual St. Paul open were carded over the course today. An additional eighteen Saturday and thirty-six on Sunday will bring the event to a close.

Defending champion and most feared player in the tournament is lighthorse Harry Cooper, the Chicago flash, who has placed in the money so often during the past seven years the event is familiarly dubbed as "Cooper's annuity." He won more than $6,000.

Slammmin' Sam Snead, the White Sulphur Springs professional and a member of the United States Ryder Cup championship team joins with four other members of that aggregation in an effort to displace Cooper. They include Ralph Guldahl of

Strange Advances To Semi-Finals

Wisconsin's Lone Survivor In Open Tennis Tournament

Delafield, Wis.—(AP)—Billy Strange of Neenah, Wis., faced Art Gottschalk, of Chicago, in a semi-final match in the boys division of the Western Junior and Boys' Open Tennis tournament today.

Strange, Wisconsin's lone singles survivor, scored a 6-0, 6-1 victory over Ray Bartlett, of New Orleans, in a quarter-final contest yesterday, while Gottschalk beat Gardner Larned of Chicago, 2-6, 8-6, 8-6.

John Mullaney, of Milwaukee, bowed out of the junior singles when he suffered a third round 6-0, 6-2 defeat by William Talbert, of Cincinnati. Talbert and Aldo Amorini, also of Cincinnati, were later disqualified by tournament officials on charges they falsified their ages to meet junior age limit requirements.

Frank Kovacs, of Berkeley, Calif., won his way into the junior quarter-finals with a fourth round 6-2, 6-3 conquest of Joan Clark, of Chicago.

Robert Carrothers, of Coronado, Calif., won a quarter-final boys match by defeating Jack Joost, of Burlingame, Calif., 6-1, 6-0.

In quarter-final boys doubles William Baumann of Oak Park, Ill., and Jack Joost, of Burlingame, Calif., defeated Billy Strange, of Neenah, Wis., and Bobb Jake, of Milwaukee, 8-6, 6-4.

St. Louis, national open titlist; Horton Smith of Chicago, Johnny Revolla of Evanston, and Ed Dudley of Philadelphia.

Most of the country's other leading players also are in the big field.

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood—People who work for Cecil Blount DeMille think he is a genius. Every time I see the man, I too come away convinced that he is a genius. And I have just seen him.
Tomorrow, when the hypnotic spell wears off, I may concede that C. B. is only a very smart fellow, a master showman, and a superb actor. Today, for my pennies, he is a genius. And not only that—he is making the greatest movie of all time.
He made no such claim for "The Buccaneer," story of Jean LaFitte, Louisiana pirate and patriot. He merely talked about it, about LaFitte and his stirring times and deeds. He merely related, with vigor and keen dramatic sense, a few highlights which he expects to record on film. He merely loosed a quiet, sparkling stream of enthusiasm, which washed away all doubts, if any existed, concerning "The Buccaneer."

And while he talked, he worked. He received a seamstress who wanted approval of a costume; he answered calls, telephoned orders, received henchmen each of whom wanted a decision on some detail of production.

He talked to his production unit in Louisiana, discussed progress, gave directions as to a scene being made 2,000 miles away—and then, when he had done, picked up his discourse to me where he had left off.

He was submerged in "The Buccaneer." Office walls were covered with Dan Sayre Groesbeck's lushly romantic paintings of scenes yet to be filmed. A table bore miniature sets yet to be erected in life size. There were Dwight Franklin figurines of pirates, and stacks of documents, photostatic copies of letters stained with pirate blood, books, histories, maps. DeMille, the student of history, was in his element.

He was not yet in full directorial flower. His business suit was conservative, his haberdashery mild. Later he would don puttees, and vivid shirts, and become Ye Compleat Movie Director—with megaphone. Later he would bark orders, like a god from Olympus.

Later he would flay his extras with verbal lashes, make his subordinates hop at the crack of his whip, make them hate him and love him and get his picture finished.
But now, in his office, he was urbane, serious and humorous by turns the scholar, the business executive, the genial human fellow of broad and cultured interests—and the genius.
Afterward, I watched the daily rite of his entrance to the studio restaurant. He strode in, as always, trailed single file by half a dozen of his worshipping staff, and proceeded triumphantly to his reserved table.

And so powerful is the man's hypnotic charm that only now it seems amusing that, in the wake of this Olympian procession, there came a quiet, lonely-looking little man who walked, scarcely noticed, to another table. Merely Adolph Zukor, the president of Paramount.

The New York World in 1887 sent a diver down to measure the Scotch cutter Thistle, challenger for the America's cup. There was a discrepancy of 18 inches between challenge figures and actual measurements. The races were held after a row.

Life of the Red Fox

V—"HUNTING THE RED FOX"
Yesterday we spoke of some of the fox's enemies—the lynx, the wolf and so on—but the worst enemies of all are men. They capture foxes in cruel-jawed traps in order to kill them and use their hides for fur coats. Many persons hunt them for "sport," often using hounds to track them down.

The Hunter Fired

Foxes have learned to be careful about traps. They smell the scent of human hands, and seem to know that the meat which is offered is not to be trusted, or at least that it is dangerous to pick it up without special care. Sometimes they are able to spring the trap without harming themselves. Then they take off the meat and eat it. One way they have used to spring a trap has been to turn it over.

"Riding to hounds" has been a favored sport. Mounted men ride along behind a pack of yelping dogs. A fox leaves a strong scent on the ground as it runs, and the dogs follow it.

The fox uses all sorts of tricks to escape the hounds. In one case it was observed to run along the top of a rail fence for more than 200 yards. Then it jumped on the ice of a small pond. By this means, it threw the hounds off its trail and escaped.

Foxes also try to fool the hounds by running back on their trails, by swimming across ponds or streams, and in other ways. They know very well that they leave a scent, and must do something to "break" their trail in order to throw the dogs off their track. They have been seen to follow the trails of other animals, perhaps hoping to puzzle the dogs because of the mixing of scents.

One day a hunter was waiting for a fox to come doubling back within range of his gun. The fox did come back, and the hunter squeaked like a mouse. Even a fox in danger is likely to turn at the sound of a mouse, its favorite food. This one did, and came around a boulder about 12 feet from the man. Just as the hunter saw the side of its head, he fired.

The fox bounded away a distance of about 15 feet, then lay down. At this moment the bawling hound came near, and the hunter turned his head. When he looked back, the fox was gone!

To the spot went hunter and hound, but they found "no track, no trail, no sign of fox." Another hunter and another hound came to the spot, but had no better fortune. It seemed as if the fox must have gone into thin air.

A year later, a wounded fox ran to the same spot. This time it was seen to enter a woodchuck hole under a log.

Seymour and Neenah Residents Off on Trip

Seymour—The Misses Emma and Frieda Gosse have returned from several weeks trip through California and other western states.

Warrine Sherman left Saturday for a tour through Minnesota, the Dakotas, Colorado and Nebraska. She is in company with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller and daughter Lucille, of Neenah.

A daughter was born July 28 to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Surman.

Mr. and Mrs. Arwin Otto and daughter June visited relatives in Michigan this week.

Mrs. Joseph Bauman and son Bob returned Friday from a trip east where they visited with relatives in Buffalo, New York and Syracuse.

A son was born July 26 to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller at the Bellin Memorial hospital.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ted Ohrogge and daughter of Avoca are visiting at the home of Rev. F. H. Ohrogge.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Falck attended the convention of the National Postmasters' association at Superior.

Mrs. Gunda Royce, Mrs. H. A. Bernhardt and daughter Dorothy left Thursday morning to attend the convention of the Women's Missionary society at Lomira. Wis. Mrs. Royce is the official delegate from the local society.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Henry of Baraboo, on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry are former Seymour residents.

Miss Ruth Barclay is spending several weeks on a trip through western states.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hallgren of Minneapolis, July 27. Mrs. Hallgren was formerly Miss Lillian Luedtke of Appleton.

Baseball games at the Seymour fair will be played at 10 o'clock on both Saturday and Sunday mornings, Aug. 7 and 8. Seymour's opponent on Saturday will be Greenville, of the Outagamie County League. On Sunday Krakow will play here in a regular league game.

No Physical Tests For Brides-to-be

Only Need Certificate Proving Blood Is Negative in Wasserman Test

Madison — "Prospective brides need not submit to a physical examination to comply with the Thomson prenuptial law," declared the State Medical Society in a special bulletin issued to clarify misunderstandings that have arisen in regard to the operation of the new marriage law.

"The Thomson law provides that after August 1 both applicants for a marriage license must file with the county clerk a certificate showing that their blood is 'negative' or gives no evidence of syphilis. In order to secure this certificate the bride and groom present themselves to their family physician, within fifteen days before the issuance of the marriage license. The physician removes from the vein of each a very small quantity of blood and has it examined to determine the presence or absence of syphilis. In the event that the examination is 'negative' a certificate is given the applicants for delivery to the county clerk. The law provides that it shall be unlawful for the county clerk to issue a marriage license unless he has on file the negative Wasserman certificates of both parties to the marriage contract.

"The male applicant for marriage must have a physical examination in addition to the Wassermann test for syphilis. This law has been in effect for a number of years and has not been changed. This provision of the statutes provides that after examination, in the event that the physician finds him to be free of all venereal disease, the physician gives the male applicant a second certificate to be filed with the county clerk."

The Royal Yacht club sponsors British entries in America's cup races. One of the club's early commodores, the Earl of Yarborough, believed in strict man-of-war discipline. In 1833 he offered the admiralty a gift of $5,000 if it would grant him a warrant to flog his men.

Lutheran Group In Annual Picnic

Annual Outing Is Held at Silver Creek Park
Near Manitowoc

Brilliant—Members of the Lutheran Men's club of Trinity Lutheran church and their families enjoyed a picnic and outing at Silver Creek park near Manitowoc Sunday.

Those in the party were: the Rev. Martin Sauer and daughter, Severa, the Rev. and Mrs. A. Liesener, the Messrs. and Mrs. Fred Loppnow and family, Albert Leider, Otto Stecker and family, Frank Lemke and family, Otto Ruch and family, William Goldsmith and family, Arnold Habermann and family, Walter Tesch and family, Harvey Heinke and family, Paul Noeldner and Mrs. E. Borchard.

Mrs. Frank Horn and daughter, Miss Emma, Mrs. Agnes Pautz, and Mrs. Otto Kautz, and daughter, Dorothy, of Potter, attended a family reunion at Neshota park at Two Rivers Sunday.

Miss Arline Luecker, accompanied by three friends from Milwaukee, left Tuesday on a three weeks motor trip through the western states. On their trip they expect to visit the Black Hills in South Dakota, Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming, Colorado Springs, Colo., and Lincoln, Neb., to call on Milton Luecker, a former Brillion boy.

Members of the Catholic Knights and their families of the St. Mary's congregation enjoyed a picnic at Horn park on Sunday. Due to the heavy rains outdoor games were impossible. The group moved to the pavilion where the men played skat and schafkopf and the women played five hundred. Awards were received by the Misses Henry Geiger, Adolph Fritz and John Stenmiz.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kock entertained friends and relatives at a 6 o'clock supper at their home on Sunday evening. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zick, daughter, Lorraine of Sherwood, Miss Dolly Zick of Hilbert, Wilbur Koch of Wells and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Isack.

Joseph Sacina returned to his home on Saturday after being a patient at the St. Joseph's hospital at Milwaukee.

Friends and relatives surprised Vilaria Zutz at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Zutz, Monday evening in honor of her eighth birthday anniversary. The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Arno Behnke and son, Paul and daughter, Bergetta, Hilbert; Mrs. Helen Behnke, Miss Eleanor Behnke and Paul Behnke, Collins.

Members of the Emmanuel Evangelical Ladies Aid and Missionary society of the Evangelical church and their families had a family picnic on the church lawn on Wednesday. The day's activities consisted of a business meeting, followed by a program and a supper.

Mary Lou Hubregste underwent a tonsil operation Wednesday at the St. Mary's hospital at Green Bay.

Miss Mathilda Horn returned home from a three weeks' trip to Guatemala and other countries of Central America.

Dorcas Guild Has Its Picnic at High Cliff

Hilbert—The local Dorcas Guild held its annual picnic at High Cliff park Wednesday afternoon, with 16 members and guests present. Out-of-town guests were the Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Ayres of Chilton and Mr. Ayres' mother, Mrs. John Ayres of Kansas City, who is vacationing with her son and family at Chilton.

Miss Helen Dieckrich, who had spent a 10-day vacation among relatives at Sheboygan and Sheboygan Falls, returned home Wednesday evening, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. August Rammer, Sheboygan.

Mrs. Paul Dumke and Mrs. A. A. Laun of Kiel were guests Thursday at the Harry Anderson home. Mrs. Dumke has rented one of the Corbett apartments on S. Fifth street and will move her household goods here from Kiel Friday or Saturday this week.

Mrs. Harry Anderson and sons, William and John, and daughter, Harriett, left Thursday afternoon to spend a two weeks' vacation with the former's mother, Mrs. William Symons at Channing, Mich. They also will visit at Norway and Iron Mountain before returning home.

Nipping of beans began on Wednesday at the local canning factory. The beans will be shipped to Valders for canning.

Many from Hilbert and vicinity are planning to attend the Calumet

County Old Settlers annual picnic which will be held Sunday at Menominee park at Oshkosh. Many former Calumet county residents who now reside in various states, some from long distances, plan to take their trip here for this annual event. Last year residents of California, Missouri and Idaho were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Baldock attended the annual picnic of the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Circle of the Order of Eastern Star of the Fox river valley Thursday afternoon at Columbia park near Calumetville on Lake Winnebago.

Lawrence Lauds Proposal to Give President Help Claims Present Cabinet System Makes for Inefficiency

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Although not announced as such, the move to give President Roosevelt six assistants who are to get $10,000 a year apiece means the beginning of the end of the cabinet.

So far as the present cabinet goes, with perhaps two or three exceptions, the public has hardly been aware of their presence. In fact, for many years the cabinet has been gradually falling into obscurity. This is because cabinet officers are really glorified chief clerks with hundreds of routine chores to do, so that they know little else but their own departmental matters and hardly qualify as presidential advisers.

When President Roosevelt asks for six $10,000-a-year men, he is asking for something every president before him for the last 30 years should have had. It is true that members of the house of representatives, when the proposal to give Mr. Roosevelt six "administrative assistants" was being debated, poked fun at the proposal and called it a "kitchen cabinet" and wanted to know what the new officials would do except to help to enforce bureaucracy still further.

It has always been my desire, however, to look objectively at legislative measures and to give the president support when he is right and criticism when he is wrong. The proposal to reorganize the federal establishment is, on the whole, meritorious and the real objection to it is the suggestion that the comptroller general's office be abolished and that quasi-judicial commissions be made subordinate to government departments. Neither of these objectionable provisions seems to have a chance of passage, and the problem of giving Mr. Roosevelt the administrative help he needs to administer the huge responsibilities of his office is, as a separate and distinct reform, wholly desirable.

Slip-Shod Methods Unless one is familiar with the slipshod way in which government business is conducted due to the fact that appointments are made by political pull rather than merit, the true significance of Mr. Roosevelt's request for six $10,000 a year men will not be immediately apparent.

What Mr. Roosevelt frankly realizes, no doubt, is that he cannot abolish the cabinet, and yet every president is compelled to recognize political service in the campaign or to the party in the past in selecting cabinet officers. The social prestige and so-called "rank" in official circles is one of the main reasons why cabinet portfolios are sought after, but when the modern president, be he Democrat or Republican, looks around the cabinet table he sees men of limited knowledge, experience, and background. And if they have intelligence and ability they soon become so immersed in routine tasks — not a small part of which is paying attention to congressmen who want jobs for their friends in the vast government bureaus. The result is that as general advisers on administration policy they are useless. This is largely because they cannot give time to study the facts and details of matters outside their own departments.

The system results in one-man advisers to the president. If the cabinet officer happens to be a man of vision, the particular recommendation he makes may have merit; but, on the other hand, the recommendations of other cabinet officers may be mediocre or subject to criticism. Other cabinet officers hesitate in cabinet meeting to butt in the affairs of their colleagues' departments.

Provides No Help All this makes for inefficiency and certainly gives the overworked president no help. By selecting six administrative assistants, the presumption is that a president will not have to consider party politics or service but can select men who have special qualifications. It should not be forgotten that nowadays there are 120 agencies of the government and that many of these have grown up outside the 10 major departments as "emergency" bureaus.

With six assistants, a president can assign two government departments to each assistant and some executive agencies besides. Thus a cabinet officer's recommendations will pass through the assistant who is delegated to watch certain things. It has been suggested in a formal report that the president should choose six men with a "passion for anonymity." By this is meant, men who will work hard and keep out of the newspapers and will act really as confidential advisers to the president. It is assumed they will not receive callers though the president might ask them to contact particular government agencies or persons outside the government when controversies arise.

Would Be Step Forward The whole plan represents a step forward and if it results only in getting to the eyes and ears of Mr. Roosevelt just a few of the things that have been happening outside the White House of which every now and then he pleads ignorance, it may be of transcendent value to the country as a whole.

With six assistants, it is inconceivable that anybody will shove some blank sheets of paper before Mr. Roosevelt and ask him to sign on the dotted line without telling him that the autographs are to be made a part of a campaign book racket in violation of the federal corrupt practices act. It is inconceivable also that with six assistants some of the memoranda of a partisan or prejudiced character which come to Mr. Roosevelt from heads of departments or agencies will be accepted as 100 per cent right when a little bit of checking will show the president that perhaps there are two sides to the issue and that possibly something is to be said for the other side.

The new bill has passed the house and it is probable the senate will go along and create the new positions which are to relegate the cabinet to a lesser and lesser role as merely an institution to satisfy political expediency. The real brain trust of Mr. Roosevelt and future presidents is expected to be a non-political affair and, socially speaking, of no importance unless some day some alert hostess of these social precincts introduces the title of "assistant president."
